authors' acknowledgements

We owe a continuing debt to the many people whose advice and comments helped us with earlier versions of this material. The present book has benefited enormously from the hard work and professionalism of our editorial and design team at Oxford University Press. In particular, we would like to acknowledge the contributions of our remarkable editor, Sarah Parsons, and our equally remarkable designer, Phil Hargraves, who have made it possible for us to write the book that we wanted to, and whose input is evident on every page.

introduction

Who is this book for?

The Oxford English Grammar Course (Intermediate Level) is for all intermediate and upper-intermediate learners who want to improve their knowledge of English grammar.

What kind of English does the book teach?

This book teaches the grammar of spoken and written British English. But it can also be used by students of American, Australian or other kinds of English – the grammatical differences are very small and unimportant.

How is the book organised?

There are 22 sections. A section covers one part of English grammar (for example: making questions and negatives; present tense verbs; problems with nouns). Each section contains:

- a presentation page which introduces the point of grammar
- several short units with explanations and exercises
- two 'More Practice' pages: these include 'Grammar in a text' exercises and internet exercises
- a short revision test.

3 Grammar in a text. Put in expressions from the box. Use the present progressive.

become less common continue continue get ✓ get get go down increase People¹ happier.

According to a recent report from the Western Statistics Office, 73% of people say that they are happy 'most of the time', compared with only 47% at the beginning of the century. Perhaps this is partly because the world is less crowded: the Western population² by about 1.3% per year. And life expectancy³ in 1970, men lived for an average of 69 years and women 75; both sexes now can expect to live for 113 years. We⁴ richer, too. The average income in 2006 was 146,000 Western Credits – twice as much as in the year 2018.

Not everything⁵ better, though. The climate⁶ to change for the worse, and sea levels

⁷ to rise. If average temperatures go on increasing, scientists are afraid that more of the world's capitals will go the same way as London, Paris and New York. Perhaps one day we will all have to move to the mountains.

Religious belief⁸ In 2018, 65% of Western Federation citizens said that they believed in God; in 2006 the figure was only 24%, and only half of these went to church regularly.

(From The Times, 18 July 2008.)

7 Internet exercise. Use a search engine (e.g. Google) to find five or more simple sentences beginning "I have never been given". Write them out.

Two levels

Some units are marked 'Revise the Basics': these revise elementary points of grammar which may still cause problems. More advanced units are marked 'Level 2'.

Using the book to study particular points

If you want to know more about a particular point (for example present tenses, the difference between should and must, or the position of adverbs), look in the index (pages 377–386) to find the right unit(s).

Read the explanations and do the exercises. Check your answers in the answer key (pages 329–376).

Using the book for systematic study

If you are working without a teacher, we suggest:

- 1 DON'T go right through the book from beginning to end – some parts will be unnecessary for you.
- 2 Decide which sections you most need to study. Section 1, 'be and have', for example? Section 8, 'questions and negatives'? Section 19, 'relatives'? Or other sections?
- 3 Go to the pages that you need. Read the grammar explanations, do the exercises, and check your answers in the answer key (pages 329–376).
- 4 In some units there are 'Grammar and vocabulary' exercises for students who would like to learn more words. Try these as well if you want to.
- 5 There are also some 'Do it yourself' exercises, which will give you a chance to discover rules for yourself.
- 6 Do some or all of the exercises in the 'More Practice' pages.
- 7 Go to the revision test at the end of the section, and try some or all of the questions.
- 8 Check your answers. If you still have problems, look at the explanations again.

Website

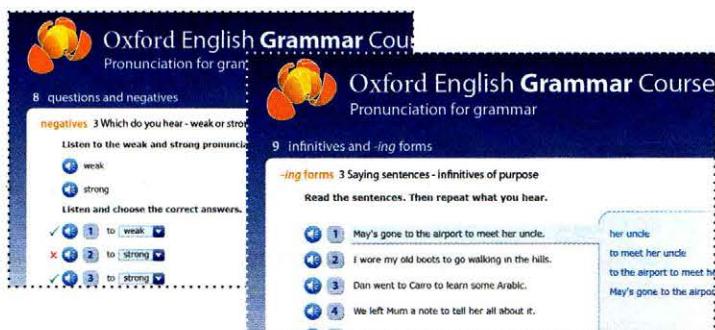

On the website there are tests which will help you to decide what you need to study, or to find out how well you have learnt the different points of grammar. There are also extra exercises and games to give you more practice on some of the points.

Pronunciation

The 'Pronunciation for grammar' CD-ROM will help you to pronounce structures fluently, with good rhythm and stress.

Examinations

This book teaches all of the grammar (and more!) that is needed for Common European Framework Levels B1 and B2 and is suitable for learners studying for Cambridge FCE.

If you know everything in the book, will you speak perfect English?

No, sorry!

- 1 Not many people learn foreign languages perfectly. (And not many people need to.) But this book will help you to speak and write much more correctly.
- 2 Books like this give short practical explanations. They cannot tell you the whole truth about English grammar, and they cannot give you enough practice to get all the difficult points right. If you follow the rules in this book, you will not make many mistakes. But you will probably need to practise using the structures in different situations. (The website material will help with this.) You will find more complete information about difficult points in the Advanced Level of the Oxford English Grammar Course, or in Michael Swan's Practical English Usage (Oxford University Press).
- 3 Grammar is not the only important thing in a language. You also need a wide vocabulary, and – very important – you need a lot of practice in listening and speaking, reading and writing. Remember: this is a grammar practice book, not a complete English course.

We hope that you will enjoy using our book.

With our best wishes for your progress in English.

SECTION 2 present tenses

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

SIMPLE PRESENT: I work, she works, he doesn't work etc

PRESENT PROGRESSIVE: I am working, she is working, he isn't working etc

English has two 'present' tenses.

- We use the simple present mostly to talk about things that are always true, and things that happen repeatedly.

Dogs eat meat. My aunt lives in Leeds. I don't work on Saturdays.

- We can use the simple present in commentaries, instructions, stories and jokes, to describe events that happen one after another.

Smith passes to Peters, Peters passes to Ollis, Ollis shoots – and it's a goal!

First you break three eggs into a bowl. You add butter, salt and pepper. Then you take a fork ...

This man goes into a pub, and he says to the barman ...

- We use the present progressive (or 'present continuous') to talk about things that are happening just around the time when we speak.

Look! The dog's eating your shoe. I'm working hard these days.

- We use the present progressive to talk about changes that are happening.

Prices are going up. Transport is getting worse.

- We can also use the present progressive to talk about the future (see pages 27, 30).

I'm seeing Lucy tomorrow.

JUST WORDS

I hate you
I love you you get on my nerves you're destroying me darling
don't leave me it's your fault you always you never darling
you never listen to me don't listen to me
it's just words.

Why computers are like women:

Nobody understands the language that they use when they talk to other computers.

They never tell you what is wrong; and if you don't know, you're in trouble.

They remember your smallest mistakes for ever.

Why computers are like men:

They know a lot of things but they are very stupid.

After you get one for yourself, you soon see a better one.

They like to go fast but they always crash.

People¹ are getting..... happier.
According to a recent report from the Western Statistics Office, 73% of people say that they are happy 'most of the time', compared with only 47% at the beginning of the century. Perhaps this is partly because the world is less crowded: the Western population² by about 1.3% per year. And life expectancy³: in 1970, men lived for an average of 69 years and women 75; both sexes now can expect to live for 113 years. We⁴ richer, too. The average income in 2096 was 146,000 Western Credits – twice as much as in the year 2018.

Not everything⁵ better, though. The climate⁶ to change for the worse, and sea levels⁷ to rise. If average temperatures go on increasing, scientists are afraid that more of the world's capitals will go the same way as London, Paris and New York. Perhaps one day we will all have to move to the mountains.

Religious belief⁸ In 2018, 65% of Western Federation citizens said that they believed in God; in 2096 the figure was only 24%, and only half of these went to church regularly.

SECTION 3 talking about the future

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

the most common ways to talk about the future

There are three common ways to talk about the future in English:

- with the going to structure.
I'm really going to tell her what I think of her.
- with the present progressive.
We're meeting Malcolm tomorrow.
- with will.
The treasurer will be in the office from 9.00 till 2.00.

We use going to or the present progressive especially when the future has some present reality: for example to talk about plans that we have already made.

Will can also be used when we decide, agree, promise or refuse, and in requests.

'There's the doorbell.' 'I'll go.' 'Please write every week.' 'Of course I will.'

She won't come out of the bathroom. Will you get some milk while you're out?

We can sometimes use the simple present to talk about the future.

Her plane arrives at 15.30. I'll phone you when I know something.

I'll see you tomorrow if I have a chance.

other ways to talk about the future

This time tomorrow I'll be lying on the beach.

• be + infinitive

• future in the past

I didn't realise what would happen.

• future perfect

The future progressive, future perfect and future perfect progressive are not very common.

They are included here for the sake of completeness.

'Separate futures, please.'

revise the basics: going to

We often use present verb-forms to talk about the future. For example, we say that something is going to happen. This happens when we can see the future in the present – when a future situation is starting, or clearly on the way.

Look – it's going to rain.

They're going to crash!

We often use going to for plans and intentions, especially in conversation.

I'm going to keep asking her out until she says 'Yes'.

2 Put the verbs in the right places to complete the sentences. Use going to.

Note: there are too many verbs.

- Jane is ... going to study music in Vienna. She's to become a professional pianist. This summer, she's three months studying German. (spend; try; work; study)
- Max is maths and science for his school-leaving exams. Then he's the summer learning to fly. In the autumn, he's a two-year training course for airline pilots. (start; spend; go; do)
- Jennifer's eight, and she doesn't know what she's One day she says she's a dancer, and the next she says she's with animals. This summer, she's with her aunt in America. (take; work; do; stay; be)
- Annie is the house this summer. Then she's two weeks walking in Scotland. In the autumn, she's a new job as a translator. (start; decorate; spend; play)

We often use the present progressive to talk about future personal arrangements and plans that are already fixed now, especially when we give the time, date, and/or place.

'What are you doing this evening?' 'I'm washing my hair.'

My car's having a service next week. We're going to Spain in June.

Did you know I'm getting a new job? What are we having for dinner?

'Hi, it's me. Listen. It's David's birthday, so a few million of us are going out for a revise the basics: will-future

We use will to give or ask for information about the future, when there is no reason to use a present verb-form (see pages 26–27, 30–31).

We will need the money on the 15th. Will all the family be at the wedding?

It will be spring soon. She'll be here in a few minutes.

We often use will to predict the future – to say what we think, guess or calculate will happen.

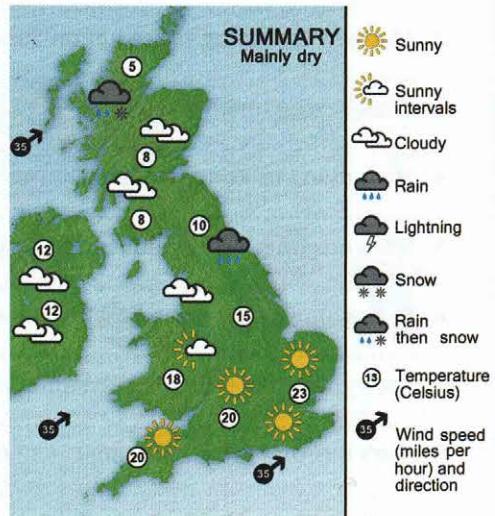

Tomorrow will be warm, with some cloud in the afternoon.

Who do you think will win? You'll never finish that book.

- 1 GRAMMAR AND VOCABULARY: weather. Look at the map and complete the weather forecast. Use some of the words in the box, once or more than once.

be cold dry earthquakes east hurricanes ice lightning north rain snow south thunder warm west wet will will be winds

Tomorrow will mainly,
but there some in the north. There be strong from the south-west later in the day. It will be quite in the south, but Scotland cold, and in the of Scotland the rain turn to during the afternoon.

- 2 Write your own weather forecast for the place where you are.
.....
.....

We usually say I don't think ... will, NOT I think ... won't.

I don't think she'll be late. (NOT USUALLY I think she won't be late.)

- 3 What do you think will happen? Make your own predictions, with I think or I don't think.

► I think it will rain tomorrow. (rain)

► I don't think I'll get money in the post tomorrow. (get)

1 it tomorrow. (snow)

2 I a letter from America tomorrow. (get)

3 I rich in ten years. (be)

4 I famous in ten years. (be)

5 people English everywhere in the year 2100. (speak)

NOTE: We can say I shall and we shall instead of I will and we will. There is no difference of meaning in modern English. Will is more common.

→ For another use of shall, see page 82. For will in requests, promises etc, see page 29.

will in decisions, promises etc OK, I'll go.

We can use will when we decide, agree or promise to do things. We don't use the simple present in these cases.

We'll buy the tickets; you can buy supper afterwards. (NOT We buy...)

You'll get your money tomorrow. (NOT You get...)

I promise I'll stop smoking. (NOT I promise I stop smoking.)

I'll hit you if you do that again. (NOT I hit you if...)

We often use will to announce a decision at the moment when we make it.

'There's the doorbell! 'OK, I'll go.' (NOT ...+go.)

Won't can be used to talk about refusals.

He won't talk to anybody. The car won't start.

1 Complete the sentences with verbs from the box. Use 'll or won't.

answer	call	come	drive ✓	eat	go	send	tell	tell	wash	write
--------	------	------	---------	-----	----	------	------	------	------	-------

► I 'll drive Will you map-read?

1 I the cups. You can dry them.

2 I'm tired. I think I to bed now.

3 She us what's wrong.

4 The cat I think it's ill.

5 'The phone's ringing' 'I it.'

6 I you the date when I know

7 I promise I to you every week.

8 That child out of the bathroom.

9 If you don't get out of here, I the police.

10 I you all the papers on Friday.

Will you ... ? can introduce instructions, orders and requests.

Would you ... ? is softer, and can be used to make requests more polite.

Will you get me a paper while you're out?

Will you be quiet, please?

Would you watch the children for a few minutes?

2 Use Will you ... ? to tell somebody to:

► clean the bathroom. Will you clean the bathroom?

- 1 deliver the furniture on Friday.
- 2 send the bill to the office.
- 3 stop shouting.
- 4 lock all the doors.
- 5 put the meat in the oven. ,

3 Use Would you ... ? to ask somebody to:

► get you a drink. Would you get me a drink?

- 1 switch the lights on.
- 2 open a window.
- 3 buy some bread.
- 4 phone for a taxi.
- 5 wake you up at 8.00.

NOTE: I'll have ... is often used when people order in cafés, restaurants etc.

I'll have a black coffee, please.

which future? will, going to or present progressive?

There are some differences between these three ways of talking about the future. The differences are not always important; often we can use two or three different forms to talk about the same thing.

PLANS

Going to and the present progressive are often both possible when we talk about plans. We use the present progressive mostly for fixed plans with a definite time and/or place.

I'm going to see Ann some time soon. I'm meeting Pat at the theatre at 8.00.
I think John's going to study biology. Sarah's starting university on September 17th.

- 1 In three of these sentences, the present progressive is possible. Which three?
 Rewrite them with the present progressive.

Jack is going to arrive at 4.00. I'm going to learn Spanish one of these days.
 I'm going to fly to Glasgow tomorrow. Al's going to tell me about his problems.
 We're going to spend next week in Ireland. Are you going to answer those letters?

PREDICTIONS

Going to: we can see the future in the present: we see things coming or starting.

Will: we think or believe things about the future.

Look out! You're going to break that glass!
 (I can see it now.)

Don't give him a watch – he'll break it.
 (I think so, because I know him.)

- 2 Circle the best form.

- Mary is going to / will have a baby.
- 1 Perhaps we are going to / will meet again one day.
- 2 Be careful, or you are going to / will fall.
- 3 Look – Andy is going to / will fall off his bike!
- 4 I think you are going to / will love Scotland.
- 5 Look at those clouds: it's going to / will rain.

DECISIONS

Will: we are making decisions. Going to: decisions exist now: they are already made.

'We've got a letter from Jan.' 'OK, I'll answer it.'

'There are a lot of letters to answer.' 'I know. I'm going to do them all on Tuesday.'

- 3 Put in I'll or I'm going to.

- I've decided. ... I'm going to stop smoking.
- 1 'I don't want to cook tonight.' 'All right, then. cook.'
- 2 'I haven't got any money.' 'No? OK. pay.'
- 3 'Do you want to go out tonight?' 'No, wash my hair.'
- 4 'Those trousers are dirty.' 'Really? Oh, yes, they are. wash them.'
- 5 'Is Roberta eating with us?' 'Wait a minute. ask her.'

simple present My credit card expires at midnight.

We sometimes use the simple present to talk about the future. This happens mostly when we talk about timetables, routines and schedules.

Next term starts on 6th April. My train leaves at 3.17.

What time does the bus arrive in York? Do you have classes next Saturday?

1 Choose the best tense.

- The plane arrives / will arrive at 10.00.
 - I write / will write soon.
- 1 When does / will school start?
 - 2 We go / are going to Spain some time soon.
 - 3 I stop / will stop smoking after Christmas.
 - 4 The exams are / will be in June.
 - 5 I have / will have a lecture at 9.00 tomorrow.
 - 6 The train won't / doesn't stop at Oxford.
 - 7 I come / will come round after 7.00.
 - 8 I play / am playing football tomorrow.
 - 9 What time does / will the concert end?
 - 10 I post / will post your letters.

'... And please hurry.
My credit card expires at midnight.'

The simple present can also be used to give and ask for instructions.

When you get to the office you go up to the first floor, you knock on the first door on the right and you ask for Mrs Alstone. OK?

What do we do now? Where do I pay?

2 Write sentences asking for instructions.

You don't know:

- when to pay. When do I pay?
- 1 how to start the car.
 - 2 where to put your coat.
 - 3 who to write to.
 - 4 where to go for the interview.
 - 5 when to apply.
 - 6 how to make spaghetti bolognese.
 - 7 when to start.
 - 8 who to ask.
 - 9 how much to give the driver.
 - 10 where to sign.

In other cases we don't use the simple present in simple sentences to talk about the future.

Lucy's coming for a drink this evening. (NOT Lucy comes...)

I'll phone you – I promise. (NOT I phone you...)

There's the doorbell. I'll go. (NOT ... I go.)

→ For the simple present with a future meaning after if, when, before, after, until and other conjunctions, see pages 241 and 254.

future progressive This time tomorrow I'll be skiing.

+ I will be working etc ? will you be working? etc - she will not be working etc

We can use the future progressive to say that something will be going on at a certain time in the future.

This time tomorrow I'll be skiing. We'll be thinking of you on Saturday.

- 1 Mr Collins is a teacher. Look at the pictures and say what he will be doing at different times tomorrow. Use expressions from the box.

cook supper	correct papers	drive to work	have a shower	have breakfast ✓ have coffee	teach French	teach maths	train the football team	watch TV

► At 8.00 he will be having breakfast.

- 2 ...
- 3 ...
- 4 ...
- 5 ...
- 6 ...
- 7 ...
- 8 ...
- 9 ...

We can use the future progressive to ask politely 'What have you already decided?' Compare:

Will you stay in this evening? (request or order)

Are you going to stay in this evening? (perhaps pressing for a decision)

Will you be staying in this evening? (just asking about plans)

- 2 Make future progressive questions to ask somebody politely:

- whether they are planning to go out this evening. Will you be going out this evening?
- 1 what time they are planning to get up.
 - 2 what they plan to wear.
 - 3 how they intend to travel to work.
 - 4 how soon they intend to leave.
 - 5 whether they expect to take the car.
 - 6 whether they plan to have lunch out.
 - 7 what time they intend to come back.
 - 8 where they are planning to sleep.
 - 9 how they intend to pay.
 - 10 when they plan to go back home.

be + infinitive You're to do your homework.

We can talk about the future by saying that something is to happen. We often use this structure to talk about official plans and fixed personal arrangements.

The President is to visit Scotland in September. We are to get a pay rise.

I felt nervous because I was soon to leave home for the first time.

SECTION 4 past tenses

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

SIMPLE PAST: I worked, she worked, he didn't work etc

PAST PROGRESSIVE (OR 'PAST CONTINUOUS'): I was working, she was working, he wasn't working etc

English has two 'past' tenses.

- We use the simple past for complete finished actions. We often use it in stories.
I sent ten emails yesterday. A man walked into the library and asked ...
- We use the past progressive to talk about actions which were unfinished at a past time.
'What were you doing at 10.00 last night?' 'I was writing letters.'

Past tenses can make requests, questions and suggestions less direct, and so more polite.

I wondered if you were free this evening.

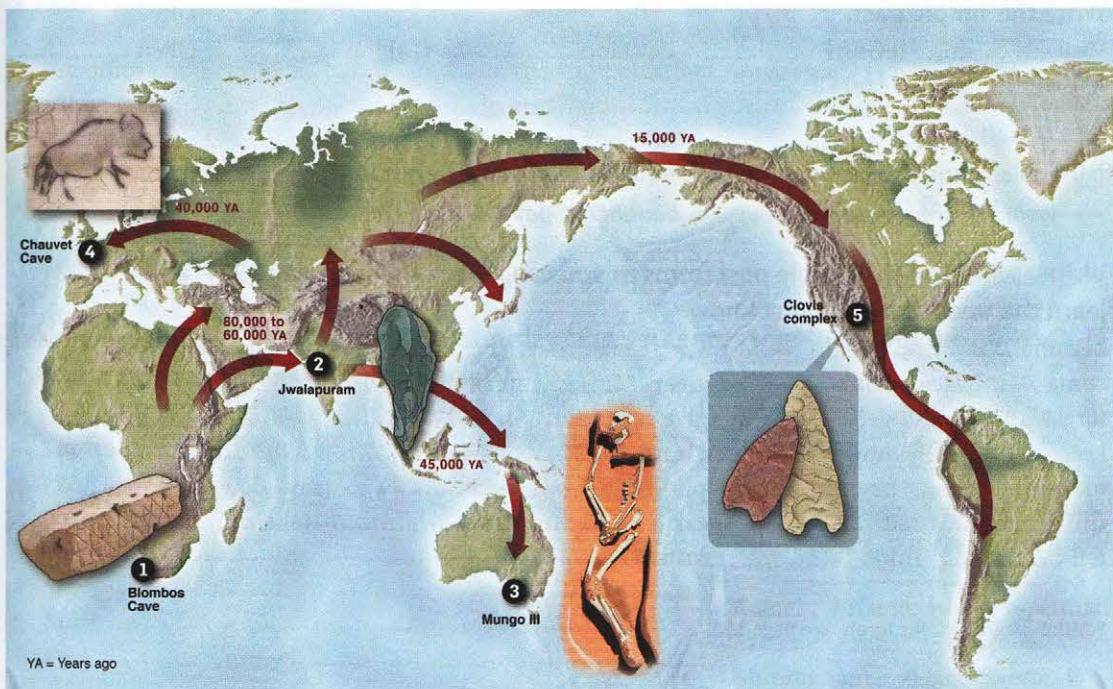

How much did you want to spend, sir?

I was wondering if I could use your phone.

Where did we come from?

Most scientists now believe that our ancestors – the earliest Homo Sapiens – originated in Africa around 200,000 years ago. Perhaps between 80,000 and 60,000 years ago – dates are uncertain – these people gradually started migrating into the rest of the world. Some groups crossed the Red Sea (sea levels were much lower then because water was locked up in large ice caps at the North and South Poles). As these populations grew, they settled further and further along the sea coasts into South Asia and South-East Asia, reaching Australia perhaps 45,000 years ago. Other groups colonised Central Asia, Europe and East Asia, with some populations finding their way across the Bering Strait, perhaps around 15,000 years ago, into North and South America. ♦ revise the basics: which past tense?

SIMPLE PAST	PAST PROGRESSIVE
+ I/you etc worked	I was, you were etc working
? did I/you etc work?	was I, were you etc working?
- I/you etc did not work	I was not, you were not etc working

We use the simple past to talk about a complete action (long or short).

We use the past progressive for actions which were not complete at a past time.

Joe got up at 7.00 and worked from 9.00 to 4.00.

At 5.00, when Joe came home, I was reading.

Note the difference when we use the past progressive and the simple past together.

Past progressive: longer action or situation.

Simple past: complete shorter action that happened while the longer action was happening.

Explorers believed that the river ran into the Atlantic.

We do not normally use the past progressive to talk about past habits, or to say how often something happened.

She rang the bell three times. (NOT She was ringing...)

past tenses in requests etc I wondered if you were free.

Level 2

Past tenses can make requests, questions and suggestions more polite. (They sound less direct than present tenses.) Simple past forms are common.

I wondered if you were free this evening. How much did you want to spend, sir?

The past modal forms would, could and might are often used in this way.

I thought it would be nice to have a picnic. Could I ask you to translate this for me?

You might see if the consulate can help you.

1 Make these sentences less direct.

- We wonder if you feel like coming out with us.

We wondered if you felt like coming out with us.

- I hope was hoping you can could lend me £10.

SECTION 5 perfect tenses

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

(SIMPLE) PRESENT PERFECT: I have worked, she has worked, he hasn't worked etc

PRESENT PERFECT PROGRESSIVE: I have been working, he has been working etc

PAST PERFECT: I had worked, she had worked etc

PAST PERFECT PROGRESSIVE: I had been working, he had been working etc

- We use the present perfect to talk about past actions with some importance now.
I've written to John, so he knows what's happening.
- We use the present perfect progressive mostly to say how long things have been going on up to now.
I have been baking since breakfast time.
- When we are already talking about the past, we use the past perfect or past perfect progressive to talk about an earlier time.
*Yesterday I found some old postcards that Kate had sent to me from Italy.
When Ann arrived I had been waiting for 25 minutes.*

NOTE: The rules in this section apply to British English. There are some small differences in American English.

why are we getting so much faster?

The Greek athlete Spiridon Louis won the Olympic marathon in 1896 in 2 hours 58 minutes 50 seconds. A little over a century later, the great Ethiopian runner Haile Gebrselassie ran the same distance in less than 2 hours 4 minutes: 30% faster than Spiridon. Women runners have also got faster. In 1926 the woman's marathon record stood at around 2 hours 55 minutes; in 1979 the Norwegian Grete Waitz broke two and a half hours. And less than a quarter of a century later, the Englishwoman Paula Radcliffe ran a marathon in 2 hours 15 minutes 25 seconds: faster than any man had run up to 1954! There has been similar progress over the last century at all other distances, from the half marathon down to the sprints. Usain Bolt's 100 metre record of 9.58 seconds, set in 2009, was an improvement of over 9% on the 1912 record. In contrast, horse race results have scarcely changed at all. In spite of all their trainers' efforts, horses run little faster now than they did a century ago. What is happening? Why are we the only animals that are speeding up? ♦

revise the basics: present perfect forms and use

+ I have worked/seen etc

? have I worked/seen? etc

- I have not worked/seen etc

To make the present perfect, put have/has with the past participle (worked, seen etc).

Regular past participles end in -ed, like simple past forms (for spelling rules, see page 40).

work → worked hope → hoped stop → stopped try → tried

With irregular verbs, the past participle is often different from the simple past form (see page 317).

see → seen speak → spoken go → gone buy → bought

- 1 Write as many of the irregular past participles as you can. Check them on page 317, and learn the ones that you don't know.

become begin break bring buy come drink eat fall forget give hear hold keep know learn leave let make pay put read say shut sit stand take tell think write

The present perfect connects the past and the present.

We use it especially for finished actions that are important now.

They have results now, or they are news.

I can't walk – I've hurt my leg. Have you heard? He's arrived!

Look – he hasn't drunk his tea. You've passed your exam!

Compare: Brutus killed Caesar. (NOT ... has killed ... – no present importance.)

We can often change a present perfect sentence into a present sentence with more or less the same meaning.

I've hurt my leg. = I have a bad leg. Sue's come back. = Sue is home.

He's lost his keys. = He can't find them. He's gone. = He isn't here.

- 2 Change these present perfect sentences into present sentences with similar meanings.

- I've cleaned the windows. The windows are clean.
- 1 The Foreign Minister has died.
- 2 Lucy's had a baby.
- 3 You've torn your coat.
- 4 I've broken my leg.
- 5 He's lost his address book.
- 6 Have you made tea?
- 7 I've done the washing up.
- 8 She's gone to work for the BBC.
- 9 We haven't found out where he is.
- 10 The noise has stopped.
- 11 I've forgotten your name.
- 12 She's learnt French.

revise the basics: present perfect or simple past?

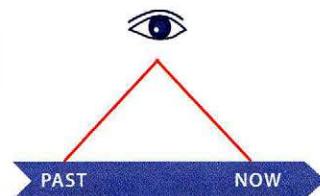

PRESENT PERFECT: WE THINK ABOUT THE PAST AND THE PRESENT TOGETHER

When we think about the past and present together, we normally use the present perfect.

I've phoned Ann, so she knows what's going on.

I've made coffee. Would you like a cup?

Come and look – I've painted the kitchen.

SIMPLE PAST: WE THINK ONLY ABOUT THE PAST, NOT THE PRESENT

When we think only about the past, we most often use the simple past.

My grandfather worked for a phone company.

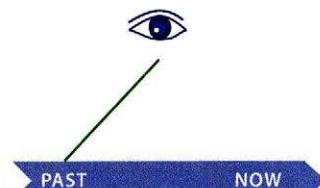

(He's dead now; I'm not thinking about the present.)

I made a cake when Liz and Sandra came.

(I'm not talking about the present.)

I painted the living room last week.

(I'm thinking only about last week.)

- 9 When we were at school we studied / have studied Latin.
- 10 Who built / has built the Tower of London?

revise the basics: tenses with time words

We don't normally use the present perfect with words for a finished time.

I've met a really nice man. (BUT NOT I've met a really nice man yesterday.)

A plane has disappeared over the Atlantic. (BUT NOT A plane has disappeared at 3.15 this afternoon.)

1 Circle the words for a finished time.

two days ago always this year last month never now then today yesterday

- 7 Claire has written to me three weeks ago.
- 8 Sorry – I've forgotten your name.
- 9 The house is empty! What has happened?
- 10 When have you heard from Peter?

We can use the present perfect to ask if things have happened up to now, or to say that they haven't happened up to now.

This often happens with words for an unfinished time:
for example today, ever, never, yet.

Has the boss phoned today? Have you ever broken your leg?

We haven't been to Scotland this year.

Mary hasn't written to me yet.

Recently, lately and before can be used like this.

Have you heard from Phil recently?

'Who's that?' 'I've never seen him before!' revise the basics: already, yet and just

We often use the present perfect with already (=‘earlier than somebody expected’).

Note the word order: already comes after have.

‘Coffee?’ ‘No, thanks. I’ve already had some.’

‘Can I speak to Colette?’ ‘I’m afraid she’s already gone home.’

1 Complete the sentences with already and verbs from the box (present perfect).

We often use the present perfect to say how much we have done up to now.

I've done six different jobs since Christmas.

I've done no work at all so far (= 'up to now') today.

Joe is saving €20 a week. He started 8 weeks ago. Up to now he's saved €160.

We use the present perfect progressive (with most verbs) to say how long things have been continuing up to now. We do not use a present tense with this meaning.

I've been learning English for four years. (NOT I'm learning English for four years.)

It's been snowing since Tuesday. Have you been waiting long?

2 Grammar in a text. Choose the correct tense (simple past or past perfect).

I (► go) to Paris last spring for a job interview; I (1 not be) there for five years. I (2 arrive) the evening before the interview, and (3 decide) to go for a walk. I (4 spend) a happy hour strolling round, thinking about the good times I (5 have) there as a student. As I was walking by the Seine, I suddenly (6 see) a familiar face – it was Nedjma, the woman I (7 share) a flat with when I was a student, and whose address I (8 lose) after leaving Paris. I could tell she (9 not see) me, so I (10 call) her name and she (11 look) up. As she (12 turn) towards me, I (13 realise) that she (14 have) an ugly scar on the side of her face. She (15 see) the shock in my eyes, and her hand (16 go) up to touch the scar; she (17 explain) that she (18 get) it when she was a journalist reporting on a war in Africa.

She (19 not be) uncomfortable telling me this; we (20 feel) as if the years (21 not pass) , as if we (22 say) goodbye the week before. She (23 arrive) in Paris that morning, and she (24 have) a hospital appointment the next day. The doctors (25 think) that they could remove the scar, but she would have to stay in Paris for several months. Both of us (26 have) the idea at the same time: if I (27 get) the job, we could share a flat again. And we could start by having a coffee while we (28 begin) to tell one another everything that (29 happen) to us in the past five years.

SECTION 6 modal verbs

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

MODAL VERBS: can, could may, might shall, should will, would must ought to

The modal verbs are a special group of auxiliary verbs. We use them before other verbs to express certain meanings – for example permission, ability, possibility, certainty.

Modals have different grammar from other verbs. For example, they have no -s on the third person singular: we say he can, NOT he cans.

Have to, be able to, used to, had better, be supposed to and needn't are similar to modals in some ways, and they are included in this section.

For will, see pages 28–30.

Modal verbs can be used in a special structure with have + past participle (e.g. should have phoned). This is used mainly to talk about possibilities in the past; the exact meaning depends on the particular modal.

'Should we walk upright? Should we continue to live in trees?
Should we try to make things? Decisions, decisions!'

revise the basics: the grammar of modals

The 'modal auxiliary verbs' are can, could, may, might, shall, should, will, would, must and ought. They are used before other verbs, and in tags and short answers.

'You can speak Japanese, can't you?' 'Yes, I can.'

'You shouldn't be here, should you?' 'No, I shouldn't.'

- 1 DO IT YOURSELF Compare the modal verbs and the ordinary verbs in the examples, and answer the questions.

MODAL VERBS	ORDINARY VERBS
I may see him.	I hope to see him.
He must be happy.	He seems to be happy.
Shall we stop?	Do you want to stop?
I can't sing.	She doesn't like to sing.
He ought to tell her.	He plans to tell her.

- 1 Which sort of infinitive is used after modal verbs?
- 2 Which is the exception?
- 3 What is special about the third person present (he/she/it ...) of modals?
- 4 What is special about the question and negative forms of modals?

- 2 Use some of the infinitives from the box to complete the sentences.

be	to be	do	to do	get	to get	go	to go	leave	to leave	make	to make	move	to move	pass	to pass	phone	to phone	play	to play

- 1 Can you the piano?
- 2 She seems better today.
- 3 I want some shopping.
- 4 We may to France soon.
- 5 When will you school?
- 6 She hopes a new car.
- 7 Must you so much noise?
- 8 Could you the salt?
- 9 We ought Angela.
- 10 I'd like to another house.

- 3 Make these sentences into questions, and change the pronouns as shown. Example:

► I can swim. (you) Can you swim?

- 1 She can stay here. (I)
- 2 I must go. (you)
- 3 You may sit down. (we)
- 4 They can drive. (she)
- 5 He could do it. (she)
- 6 I would like to. (you)
- 7 They should pay now. (he)
- 8 You must change here. (I)

Modal auxiliary verbs have no infinitives or participles. Instead, we use other expressions like be able to, have to, be allowed to.

He'd like to be able to travel abroad more. (NOT He'd like to can ...)

I've never been able to understand maths. (NOT I've never could ...)

I'm sorry to have to tell you this ... (NOT I'm sorry to must ...)

We've had to get new shoes for both the kids. (NOT We've must ...)

7 What do you think are the missing words in the cartoon caption?

'But the good news is that you'll never smoke,
..... drink or drive a car again.'

revise the basics: must, should and ought to

Must (not) is used for orders and for strong suggestions, advice and opinions.

Should (not) is used for less strong suggestions, advice and opinions.

You must stop smoking or you'll die. I really think you should stop smoking.

You must not park here. You shouldn't park here; somebody will steal your car.

People must realise that the world is in trouble. People should do more to help others.

Ought is similar to should, but is followed by to.

People ought to do more to help others.

- 1 You know, I think you take a holiday.
- 2 Tell Mark he tidy his room at once.

- 1 whether to move to London.
 - 2 how long to wait.
 - 3 what to do at the weekend.
 - 4 where to park.
 - 5 when to pay the tax bill.

4 Write some similar questions for yourself.

have to and must

Have (got) to is similar to must.

I have to finish this report before tomorrow. OR I must finish this report before tomorrow.

Do you have to make all that noise? OR Must you make all that noise?

We've got to check in before six o'clock. OR We must check in before six o'clock.

There is sometimes a small (and not very important) difference between must and have (got) to.

Must can be used especially to talk about the feelings and wishes of the speaker/hearer.

Have (got) to can be used especially to talk about obligations that come from somewhere else.

Compare:

I must stop smoking. (I want to.)

I've got to stop smoking – doctor's orders.

Must you wear those dirty jeans? (Is that what you want?)

Do you have to wear a tie at work? (Is there a rule?)

- 8 You really must / have got to visit us soon.
- 9 I must / have got to try to spend more time at home.
- 10 You must / have got to go through Carlisle on the way to Glasgow.

2 Complete the sentences with expressions from the box and must or have/has (got) to.

do military service ✓	do some shopping	get a haircut	give my love	hold a general election
pay	pay income tax	phone him	take more exercise	try to get	work

- In some countries, men have (got) to do military service.

 - 10 I'm getting very tired. I more sleep.

Must not and do not have to are very different. See page 76.

must not; do not have to; do not need to / needn't

We use must not in prohibitions (negative orders).

We use do not have to, do not need to (or needn't) to say that something is unnecessary.

Students must not leave bicycles in front of the library.

Passengers must not speak to the driver.

Friday's a holiday – I don't have to work. (NOT I mustn't work.)

You needn't pay now – tomorrow's OK. (NOT You mustn't pay now ...)

had better You'd better take your umbrella.

<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	I had better go	you had better go	he/she/it had better go etc
<input type="checkbox"/>	I had better not go	you had better not go	he/she/it had better not go etc
Contractions: I'd better, you'd better etc

If you etc had better do this is not past or comparative. It means 'This is a good thing to do now.' We use had better to give strong advice to people (including ourselves.)

You'd better stop that, young lady. (NOT You've better ...)

You'd better take your coat. I'd better not stay any longer; I've got work to do.

1 Put the beginnings and ends together. Use 'd better with the verbs in the box.

We're late (now). We'd better phone Mum. OR We should phone Mum.

You should always drive very carefully near schools. (NOT You had better always drive ...)

2 Write 'd better where it's possible; in other places write should.

supposed to You're supposed to start work at 8.30.

We can use be supposed + infinitive to talk about rules: to say what people or things should do.

passive infinitives and -ing forms to be seen; being seen

PASSIVE INFINITIVES: (to) be watched, seen, made etc

PASSIVE -ING FORMS: being watched, seen, made etc

Many verbs are followed by infinitives or -ing forms (see pages 118 and 124).

These infinitives and -ing forms can be passive.

I don't like being ignored. She loves being photographed.

Note the position of prepositions in these structures.

I want to be listened to. I don't like being talked about behind my back.

passives: verbs with two objects Susan was given a prize.

Verbs with two objects (see page 143) have two possible active and passive structures.

They gave Susan a prize.	Susan was given a prize.
They gave a prize to Susan.	A prize was given to Susan.

We choose the structure which fits best with what comes before and after (see page 143).

The structure with the person as subject (e.g. Susan was given ...) is very common.

1 Change the structure.

- Nothing was sent to me. I was sent nothing.

Note that do may come twice in questions: as an auxiliary verb and as a main verb.

What does your father do? What did you do at university?

Common question expressions before nouns:*what colour, what size, what make of, what sort/kind/type of.What colour eyes has she got? (ALSO POSSIBLE: What colour are her eyes?)*What size shoes do you wear?*What make of car did you buy? What sort of music do you like?*Note that we usually ask What time ...?, NOT *At what time ...?What time does the train get in?*3 Complete the questions with a suitable expression.

Note the difference between how? and *what ... like?*We use how? mostly to ask about things that change – e.g. moods, health, work.We use what ... like? mostly to ask about things that don't change – e.g. people's character and appearance. Compare:How's Joe? 'He's very well.' 'What's Joe like?' 'Tall, good-looking, a bit shy.'How does she seem today? 'Much happier.'What does your sister look like? 'Short, dark and cheerful-looking.'4 Make questions with How or What ... like.

6 (school?) 'Much better now.'

8 (things at home?) 'OK, I suppose.'

9 (your village) 'Very quiet.'

10 (the neighbours) 'A bit strange.'

question-word subjects Who won? What happened?

When who and what are subjects, we make questions without do/does/did. Compare:

'Who^{SUBJ} won?' 'United^{SUBJ} won.' (NOT 'Who did win?')

'Who^{OBJ} did you tell?' 'I told Anna^{OBJ}.'

'What^{SUBJ} happened?' 'Something^{SUBJ} nice happened.' (NOT 'What did happen?')

'What^{OBJ} did he say?' 'He said something^{OBJ} nice.'

The same thing happens when subjects begin with which, what, whose or how much/many.

Which team won? (NOT Which team did win?) What country hosted the 1928 Olympics?

How many families live here? (COMPARE How many families^{OBJ} do you^{SUBJ} know?)

Whose child broke that window?

1 Circle the correct form.

- Who works / does work in that office?
 - What means catalyst? / does catalyst mean?

 2 What caused / did cause the explosion?
 3 How many people came / did come to the party?

 5 What mean you? / do you mean?
 6 Who told / did tell you?
 7 What happened / did happen to your arm?
 8 Which car costs / does cost more?
 9 What colours suit / do suit you best?
 10 What says the letter? / does the letter say?

3 Write five questions to test somebody's general knowledge.

- 1 Who wrote ?
 2 Who built ?
 3 Who invented ?
 4 Who discovered ?
 5 Who said ?

prepositions in questions What are you thinking about?

Level 2

Prepositions often come at the end of questions.

With whom ... ?, For what ... ? etc are unusual and very formal.

We usually prefer Who ... with?, What ... for? etc.

Who did you go with? What did you say that for?

1 Write questions for these answers, using 'Who ... ?' or 'What ... ?'

- 'I went with my sister.' 'Who did you go with?'
- 1 'I'm thinking about my exams.'
- 2 'I bought it from Janice.'
- 3 'She sent it to the police.'
- 4 'I'll carry it in a paper bag.'
- 5 'You can eat it with a spoon.'
- 6 'She hit him with her shoe.'
- 7 'My father works for Shell Oil.'
- 8 'I made it for you.'
- 9 'The book's about Egypt.'
- 10 'I was talking to Patrick.'

2 Write questions for these answers, using 'Who ... ?' or 'What ... ?'

- 'Soup.' (starting) 'What are you starting with?'
- 1 'A bus.' (waiting)
- 2 'The future.' (worried)
- 3 'Films.' (talking)
- 4 'The manager.' (want to speak)
- 5 'Universal Export.' (work)
- 6 'A strange bird.' (looking)
- 7 'My keys.' (looking)
- 8 'Travel and music.' (interested)
- 9 'My mother.' (writing)
- 10 'Life.' (thinking)

In conversation, we often ask short questions with Who/What/Where + preposition.

'I'm going to France.' 'Who with?' 'We need to talk.' 'What about?'

3 Complete the conversations with two-word questions.

- 'I'm writing a poem.' 'What about?' 'Lost love.'
- 1 'I've had a strange letter.' 'My American friend.'
- 2 'I've bought some chocolates.' 'You.'
- 3 'We're thinking of moving.' 'Ireland.'
- 4 'Joanne's in love again.' 'A policeman.'
- 5 'Carola's got engaged.' 'To my cousin Robert.'
- 6 'I'm really worried.' 'Everything.'
- 7 'We went to Spain in May.' 'Harry and Lydia.'
- 8 'I'm still waiting.' 'The phone call they promised two hours ago.'
- 9 'I managed to open the lock.' 'A piece of bent wire.'
- 10 'I've cleaned the sofa.' 'Furniture polish.'

revise the basics: negatives

To make negative verb forms, we put not or n't after an auxiliary verb or be. (Note: won't = 'will not').

We have not forgotten. She can't swim. It wasn't raining. I won't tell anybody.

If there is no other auxiliary, we use do.

I don't like the soup. (NOT I like not the soup.)

We do not use do with other auxiliaries.

You mustn't worry. (NOT You don't must worry.)

I haven't seen him. (NOT I don't have seen him.)

After do, we use the infinitive without to.

I didn't think. (NOT I didn't to think/thinking/thought.)

1 Correct these sentences by making them negative.

- Karl Marx discovered America. Karl Marx didn't discover America.
- 1 Shakespeare was French.
- 2 Austrians speak Japanese.
- 3 Roses are green.
- 4 Cats can fly.
- 5 George Washington lived in Russia.
- 6 Fridges run on petrol.
- 7 The sun goes round the earth.
- 8 Telescopes make things smaller.
- 9 There are seventeen players in a rugby team.
- 10 Bananas grow in Scotland.

In standard English, we do not use not or do with other negative words like never, hardly, nothing.

(But this is common in some English dialects.)

He never works. (NOT He does never work. OR He doesn't never work.)

It hardly matters. (NOT It doesn't hardly matter.)

He said nothing. (NOT He didn't say nothing.)

I've got no money. (NOT I haven't got no money.)

2 Make the sentences negative.

- I eat fish. (not) I don't eat fish.
- I eat fish. (never) I never eat fish.
- Somebody spoke. (nobody) Nobody spoke.
- 1 I like your new glasses. (not)
- 2 I understood. (nothing)
- 3 Something happened. (nothing)
- 4 Sally likes dancing. (not)
- 5 Somebody wants to sing. (nobody)
- 6 There's somewhere to sit down. (nowhere)
- 7 My mother drives fast. (never)
- 8 I go out. (hardly)
- 9 We'll get there. (never)
- 10 We'll get there. (not)

Note the difference between not and no.

We use not to make a word, expression or clause negative.

Not surprisingly, we missed the train. (NOT No surprisingly ...)

I can see you tomorrow, but not on Thursday. I have not received his answer.

We use no with a noun or -ing form to mean 'not any' or 'not a/an' (see page 171).

No teachers went on strike. (= There weren't any teachers on strike.)

I've got no Thursdays free this term. (= ... not any Thursdays ...)

I telephoned, but there was no answer. (= ... not an answer.)

NO SMOKING

3 Put in not or no.

- We speak German in the office, but not at home.
 - There's no parking in this street.
- 1 Sorry, I can't pay. I've got money.
 - 2 She was able to understand him.
 - 3 They had butter left in the shop.
 - 4 They repaired my watch, but properly.
 - 5 We've got time to talk now.
 - 6 I can come round, but tonight.
 - 7 They did want to help.
 - 8 'Do you smoke?' '..... usually.'
 - 9 She's a woman with sense of humour.
 - 10 MUSIC AFTER 10 O'CLOCK.

That's an interesting suggestion. It's not a simple matter, and not everybody will think it's a good idea.

But there's no reason not to discuss it. And of course, there's no need to decide right away. So let's think about it a bit more.

4 Correct the mistakes.

- We not are ready. are not
- 1 You don't must park here.
 - 2 I understand not.
 - 3 They didn't go nowhere.
 - 4 We were no very happy.
 - 5 I don't never eat meat.
 - 6 We didn't waiting.
 - 7 I don't hardly watch TV.
 - 8 She not phoned.
 - 9 I speak Arabic, but no well.
 - 10 I didn't see nothing.

5 GRAMMAR AND VOCABULARY: words for people who can't do things.

Put the beginnings and ends together. Use a dictionary if necessary.

0 A blind person	A can't see. O
1 Some disabled people	B can't hear well.
2 A deaf person	C can't read or write.
3 A tone-deaf person	D can't distinguish red and green.
4 Some colour-blind people	E can't distinguish musical notes.
5 An illiterate person	F can't move or work easily.

negative questions Aren't you well?

CONTRACTED (CONVERSATIONAL)

n't after auxiliary verb

Why isn't it ready yet? Doesn't she know?

We say aren't I?, NOT amn't I?

'Aren't I next?' 'No, I am.' (BUT NOT I aren't next.)

UNCONTRACTED (FORMAL, UNUSUAL)

not after subject

Why is it not ready yet? Does she not know?

1 Make these questions more conversational.

► Are you not well? Aren't you well?

1 Can you not swim?

2 Do you not speak Spanish?

3 Were the shops not open?

4 Has Ann not arrived?

5 Did she not know him?

6 Why are you not working?

7 Has the postman not come?

8 Is your mother not at home?

9 Are you not ready yet?

10 Do they not understand?

We often use negative questions to check that something has not happened, is not true etc.

The meaning is like 'Is it true that ... not ... ?'

Don't you feel well? Oh dear. Can't they come this evening?

Negative questions can also express surprise that something has not happened, is not happening etc.

Hasn't the postman come yet? Didn't she tell you she was married?

This may sound critical.

Can't you read? It says 'closed'. Don't you ever listen to what I say?

2 Use negative questions to confirm the following ideas.

► It looks as if she can't swim. Can't she swim?

1 It looks as if you don't believe me.

2 Is it true that she didn't pass the exam?

3 I believe you may not have paid for your ticket.

4 I think perhaps you didn't lock the door.

5 It seems as if you can't understand English. I said 'No'.

6 I'm afraid you don't like my cooking.

7 Perhaps you didn't get the letter I sent.

8 So you didn't enjoy the film?

9 Is it true that you and John aren't going to get married?

10 It seems that you don't want any more potatoes.

.....

We can use negative questions in another way, to make sure that something is true.

Didn't you go and see Peter yesterday? How is he? (=I believe you went and saw Peter ...)

3 Make negative questions to make sure that these things are true.

- I think you went to Scotland last week. Did you go to Scotland last week?
- 1 I think you speak Arabic.
- 2 I think that's Bill over there.
- 3 I believe you studied at Oxford.
- 4 This is your coat, I think.
- 5 I think her mother is a doctor.
- 6 I thought Joe was at the party.
- 7 I think you're hot in that sweater.
- 8 I think you got a letter from Harry.
- 9 I believe they lost money last year.
- 10 She's Irish, surely?

We can use negative questions as exclamations.

Isn't it cold! Doesn't your hair look nice! Weren't those children noisy!

4 Make exclamations.

- It's surprising. Isn't it surprising!
- 1 They're stupid.
- 2 She looks tired.
- 3 That child is dirty.
- 4 It's hot.
- 5 John works hard.
- 6 That film was terrible.
- 7 He's funny.
- 8 It's a pity.
- 9 She complains.
- 10 Those flowers smell nice.

We can use negative questions in polite invitations.

Won't you come in? Wouldn't you like something to drink?

But we do not use negative questions to ask people to do things for us.

Can you help me? You couldn't help me, could you?

BUT NOT Can't you help me? (This sounds like a criticism.)

Notice how we use Yes and No in answers to negative questions.

'Yes' goes with or suggests an affirmative verb, and 'No' goes with or suggests a negative verb.

Don't you like it? 'Yes (I like it).' Aren't you ready? 'No (I'm not ready).'

5 Add Yes or No to the answers.

- 'Aren't you ready?' 'Yes....., I am.'
- 1 'Don't you like her?' '....., I don't.'
- 2 'Can't you help me?' '....., I can't.'
- 3 'Isn't this nice?' '....., it is.'
- 4 'Hasn't she paid?' '....., she has.'
- 5 'Wasn't he at home?' '....., he was.'
- 6 'Didn't she phone?' '....., she didn't.'
- 7 'Isn't she coming?' '....., she isn't.'
- 8 'Aren't you tired?' '....., I am.'
- 9 'Didn't Max ask you?' '....., he did.'
- 10 'Can't you find your keys?' '....., I can't.'

'Haven't you brought any vegetables with it?'

In some answers, both contracted forms (for example I'm, don't) and full forms (for example I am, do not) are possible. Normally both are correct.

4 Grammar in a text. Read the text, and then write questions for the answers.

In a small village in North Yorkshire, there's a big old farmhouse where three families live together: Alice and George and their three children, Joe and Pam and their two children, and Sue and her baby daughter. The adults divide up the work between them. George does the cooking, Joe and Sue do most of the housework, Pam looks after the shopping and does the repairs, and Alice takes care of the garden. Alice, George and Sue go out to work; Joe works at home designing computer systems, and Pam, who is a painter, looks after the baby during the day. Two of the children go to school in the village, but the three oldest ones go by bus to the secondary school in the nearest town, ten miles away.

The three families get on well, and enjoy their way of life. There are a few difficulties, of course. Their biggest worry at the moment is money – one of the cars needs replacing, and the roof needs some expensive repairs. But this isn't too serious – the bank has agreed to a loan, which they expect to be able to pay back in three years. And they all say they would much rather go on living in their old farmhouse than move to a luxury flat in a big city.

- Two. How many children have Joe and Pam got?

SECTION 9 infinitives and -ing forms

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

INFINITIVES: (to) see, (to) go, (to) break etc

-ING FORMS (ALSO CALLED 'GERUNDS'): seeing, going, breaking etc

Infinitives often have to before them; but not always.

I want to go home, but I can't go now.

Negative infinitives are made with not (to).

I told her not to pay.

Besides ordinary infinitives, there are also progressive, perfect and passive infinitives.

I'd like to be lying on the beach now. You ought to have told me.

He can be found in the café most afternoons.

We can use infinitives to say why we do things.

I got up early to say goodbye to Miriam.

We often use -ing forms as subjects.

Smoking is dangerous. (More natural than To smoke is dangerous.)

If we use infinitives as subjects, we prefer a structure with it. (See page 147.)

It's dangerous to smoke.

After some verbs we use infinitives; after others we use -ing forms.

I expect to meet John tomorrow. (NOT I expect meeting ...)

I'll finish painting in a minute. (NOT I'll finish to paint ...)

We can use infinitives after some adjectives and nouns.

We're ready to stop. I'm glad to be here. I've got work to do.

After prepositions we use -ing forms, not infinitives.

You can't live without eating. (NOT ... without to eat.)

I usually watch TV before going to bed. (NOT ... before to go to bed.)

'There are three rules for writing the novel.
Unfortunately, no one knows what they are.'

(W Somerset Maugham)

'To be or not to be,
that is the question.'
(Shakespeare, 'Hamlet')

'Writing is easy; all you do is sit staring at a blank sheet of paper until the drops of blood form on your forehead.'

(Gene Fowler)

'It's nice to get up in the morning, but it's nicer to stay in bed.'

(Traditional)

'Writing a book of poetry is like dropping a rose petal down the Grand Canyon and waiting for the echo.'

(Don Marquis)

'Beethoven tells you what it's like to be Beethoven and Mozart tells you what it's like to be human. Bach tells you what it's like to be the universe.'

(Douglas Adams)

'A hen is only an egg's way of making another egg.'

(Samuel Butler)

revise the basics: infinitive with and without to

We normally put to before an infinitive. Negative infinitives have not to.

I want to have a rest. (NOT I want have a rest.) I decided not to go to Scotland. (NOT ... to not go ...)

We use an infinitive without to after the auxiliary do.

I didn't know her address. (NOT I didn't to know...)

And we use an infinitive without to after the modal verbs can, could, may, might, must, shall, should, will and would, and after had better and needn't. (BUT NOTE ought to).

Could you help me? (NOT Could you to help me?) You should try to forget about it.

'Can you stay for supper?' 'No, thanks, I'd better go home.' You needn't worry. We ought to stop.

Note also the structure with Why (not) ... ?

Why worry? Why not give him socks for Christmas?

Tomorrow is another day

We couldn't get into our new home until the evening, because the previous owners had taken all day to move out. And when we finally did get in, there was so much to do: boxes to unpack, children and animals to feed, bedding to find and beds to make. And of course nobody could remember which boxes things had been packed in. When we'd finally got the children to bed, Jenny and I sat down and started making a list which just got longer and longer. The thing is, it wasn't really a 'new' home at all; it was an old house that had been neglected for years. There were five dirty rooms to clean up and decorate; windows to replace; plumbing, electrics and central heating to sort out; a whole lot of furniture to buy; and a real jungle of a garden to clear and plant. And for the kids: school and all the usual activities to organise. I looked at Jennie, she looked at me, I put the list down, I said 'Tomorrow is another day,' and we dragged ourselves off to bed.

SECTION 10 various structures with verbs

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

Several different structures are practised in this section:

- imperatives

Write your address here.

- let's

Let's go and see Fred.

- verbs with two objects

Can you send me the details?

- causative structures with have and get

I must have my watch repaired. We need to get the curtains cleaned.

- exclamations

What a fool! How strange! Isn't she sweet!

- emphatic do

You do look nice. Do sit down. I said I was going to win, and I did win.

- structures with preparatory it and what

It's strange that she hasn't phoned. It's not tea I want, it's coffee.

What I need is a drink.

- phrasal verbs

My car has broken down.

Note that we introduce phrasal verbs, but we do not give long lists of them. We think it's best to learn phrasal verbs like other words, one at a time as they are needed. In our opinion grouping them together, as some grammars do, only causes confusion.

For prepositional verbs, see pages 298–299.

'When it is not necessary to change, it is necessary not to change.'

(Lucius Cary)

'It was such a lovely day I thought it was a pity to get up.'

(W Somerset Maugham)

'It's easy to see the faults in people
I know; it is hardest to see the good, especially when the good isn't there.'

(Will Cuppy)

'Anybody who has ever struggled with poverty knows how extremely expensive it is to be poor.'

(James Baldwin)

'It is impossible to enjoy idling thoroughly unless one has plenty of work to do.'

(Jerome K Jerome)

revise the basics: imperatives; let's

We use imperatives to tell people what to do, advise them, encourage them etc.
Imperatives look the same as infinitives without to.

Look in the mirror before you drive off. Try again. Have some more tea.

Negative imperatives begin with do not/don't. (Note: these can be used before be.)

Please do not lean out of the window. Don't worry. Don't be silly!

Note the position of always and never before imperatives.

Always try to tell the truth. (NOT Try always ...) Never do that again.

1 Choose the best way of completing each sentence.

- Always add / Never add salt to potatoes when you cook them.
- 1 Always check / Check always the tyres before you drive a car.
 - 2 Believe / Don't believe everything that people say.
 - 3 Always cook / Never cook chicken when it's frozen.
 - 4 Wait / Don't wait more than fifteen minutes for somebody who's late.
 - 5 Always unplug / Unplug always electrical appliances before repairing them.
 - 6 Count / Don't count your change after buying something.
 - 7 Always put off / Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.
 - 8 Always say / Never say 'I will love you for ever'.
 - 9 Be not / Don't be afraid.

We can use let's (or let us – very formal) + infinitive without to to make suggestions or give orders to a group that includes the speaker.

Let's have a drink. Let's stay in this evening.

The normal negative is Let's not ...; Don't let's ... is informal; Let us not is very formal.

Let's not tell Granny what happened.

2 Write the suggestions, using Let's (not).

revise the basics: verbs with two objects

Revise

COMMON VERBS WITH TWO OBJECTS:

Many verbs can have two objects – one direct and one indirect. Usually the indirect object refers to a person, and this often comes first.

He gave his wife a camera. I wish you a Merry Christmas.

If we put the indirect object last, we use a preposition (usually to or for).

I passed my licence to the policeman. Mum bought the ice cream for you, not for me.

1 Change the structure.

- I gave my sister some flowers. I gave some flowers to my sister.

- 1 I would like to buy
- 2 I never lend
- 3 I must write
- 4 I think it's difficult to teach
- 5 Nobody has ever given

Explain, say, suggest and describe do not have the indirect object first.

Can you explain the plan to us? (NOT Can you explain us the plan?)

I've come to say goodbye to you. (NOT ... to say you goodbye.)

I suggested a new method to her. (NOT I suggested her a new method.)

Describe your wife to me. (NOT Describe me your wife.)

'Get me the Zoo, please,
Miss Winterton.'

revise the basics: causative have and get do: emphatic auxiliary You do look nice.

Emotive emphasis: we can use do to make an expression sound stronger. Do be is possible in imperatives.

You do look nice today! I did enjoy our talk. Do sit down. Do be careful.

1 Complete the sentences with expressions from the box, and make them more emphatic by using do/does/did.

a lot	early tonight	cooking	disturbing you	ill <input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	John my love	the party with you	hairstyle

- I feel I do feel ill. 5 Alice talks
- 1 I agree 6 Be home
- 2 I apologise for 7 Give
- 3 I hate 8 I like your
- 4 Peter enjoyed

Contrastive emphasis: we can use do to show a contrast – between false and true, appearance and reality, or a general statement and an exception.

She thinks I don't love her, but I do love her.

It looks easy, but it does need quite a bit of practice.

There wasn't much time for shopping, but I did buy a couple of shirts.

We can also use do to compare what is expected with what actually happens.

I said I was going to win, and I did win.

2 These sentences and conversations have the wrong ends. Sort them out, and add do/does/did to express contrast.

- I've forgotten her name, but I know something about life.

emphasis with it and what It's not tea that I want.

We can emphasise a part of a sentence by using the structure It is/was ... that. Compare:

The secretary sent Jake the photos yesterday.

It was the secretary that/who sent Jake the photos yesterday. (not the boss)

It was Jake that the secretary sent the photos to yesterday. (not Bill)

It was the photos that the secretary sent Jake yesterday. (not the drawings)

Note the use of pronouns and verbs in this structure in informal and formal styles.

INFORMAL

It's me that's responsible.

It's you that's in the wrong.

FORMAL

It is I who am responsible.

It is you who are in the wrong.

Another way of emphasising is to use a structure with what (=‘the thing(s) that’). Compare:

The wind keeps me awake. What keeps me awake is the wind.

I need a change. What I need is a change. (OR A change is what I need.)

We can use all (that) (meaning ‘the only thing that’) in the same way as what.

All I need is a home somewhere. All I did was touch him.

3 Change the sentences so as to emphasise the words in italics. Begin What....

- 5 What I want to know is ‘I've already met the tall, dark man.

What I'd like to know is, where is he now?’

phrasal verbs Look out! I'll think it over.

English has a large number of phrasal verbs, made up of a verb and a small word (adverb particle) like at, in, on, up, down, away, out. The adverb particles are not the same as prepositions (though some of them have the same form). Phrasal verbs are very common in an informal style.

1 Match the phrasal verbs with the more formal one-word verbs from the box.

arrive	awake	consider	continue	disintegrate	explode ✓	leave	postpone return	return	rise

blow up	explode	break up	come back	get up go away	go on	put off	turn up
send back	think over	wake up

Adverb particles can have various meanings. Up often means 'completely'.

I'll cut up the wood. Let's clean up the house. Fill up your glass. I tore up her letter.

2 Look at the adverb particles in the following sentences, and choose the best meaning from the box for each one.

away	completely ✓	further	further	higher	louder	quieter	on paper to various people	working	not working

- | | |
|--|--|
| ► Can you cut up the onions? completely | 6 I've sent out the invitations. |

- 'What does precipitation mean?' 'No idea. it up.'

Adverb particles can usually go before or after noun objects.

Fill in this form. OR Fill this form in.

I'm going to put on a sweater. OR I'm going to put a sweater on.

Did you throw away the newspapers? OR Did you throw the newspapers away?

But an adverb particle must go after a pronoun object.

Fill it in. (NOT Fill in it.) I threw them away. (NOT I threw away them.)

4 Change the sentences twice.

► I put on my raincoat.

I put my raincoat on. I put it on.

time to tidy up

Every now and then you decide it's time to tidy up, don't you? Because you just can't find anything. So you pick up all the stuff that's been lying around on the floor since Adam was a lad. You throw out the old magazines that you're never going to read again. You give back the books and music that you borrowed from the people upstairs when you were all much younger. You take down your old posters and put up the new ones you bought three years ago to replace them. You sort out the papers on your desk, arrange some of them in systematic-looking piles, and throw away the others. Finally you put on some relaxing music, pour yourself a drink, and sit back with a feeling of satisfaction. A good job done. Only one small problem, which you slowly discover over the next few days: you just can't find anything. *

SECTION 11 articles: a/an and the

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

A/An shows that we are talking about one person or thing. We often use a/an:

- in descriptions
She's a kind woman. He's got an interesting face.
- when we say what something is, or what somebody's job is.
This is an earring. She's a farmer.

The usually means 'You know which one(s) I'm talking about.'

Can I use the bathroom? (The hearer knows that this means 'your bathroom'.)

Nouns used without articles often have a special meaning.

I'm interested in birds. (This means 'all birds'.)

Most Western European languages have articles. So if you speak (for example) French, German, Spanish or Greek, you will not have too many problems with a/an and the: they are used mostly in the same way as your articles. There are a few differences: see pages 156, 157, 160, 162, 163. If you speak a non-Western-European language (for example Russian, Polish, Arabic, Chinese, Japanese), you may find articles more difficult. In that case, study all of this Section.

- in expressions like only one and just one.

In the plural, we use no article or some (see page 170), not a/an.

They both married doctors. Some men called.

revise the basics: the Please close the door.

The means 'you know which (one/ones) I mean':

I bought a TV and a radio, but the radio didn't work.

(= the radio I just told you about – you know which one.)

The women over there work with my sister.

(= the women I'm showing you – you know which ones.)

And do you see ⁶ expensive clothes he's wearing? Where does he get ⁷ money to pay for it all? ⁸ month ago he hadn't got ⁹ penny. I told you about ¹⁰ burglary that we had at ¹¹ shop, didn't I? Do you think I should go to ¹² police?'

3 Imagine that you are talking to a friend in your school classroom or your usual workplace.

If you say the following expressions, will he/she know which one(s) you probably mean?

If not, add some words so that he/she will know which one(s).

revise the basics: generalisations without the I like music.

For me, ⁵ children start being interesting at ⁶ age when you can understand ⁷ things that they say. But ⁸ years that I like best are ⁹ period between ages thirteen and twenty. Oh, it's difficult at times, but I still prefer talking about ¹⁰ life with a teenager to cleaning a baby's bottom.

We do not normally use the in generalisations with plural and uncountable nouns, even if there is an adjective before the noun.

She's studying Chinese history. (NOT ... the Chinese history.) He collects antique clocks.

But we use the when a description with of follows the noun.

She's studying the history of China.

2 Use some adjectives from the box, or other adjectives, to write true (or false!) sentences about yourself. Don't use the.

 much, many, a little, a few enough too much/many less, least more, most a lot, lots which, what (articles a/an, possessives my, your etc)*

Determiners help to show which or how much/many we are talking about.

this small dog some new suggestions all Scottish towns enough time

Most determiners are explained and practised in this section (together with other uses of too and enough).

Articles have a separate section on pages 155–166. Possessive determiners are explained together with pronouns on pages 189–191.

'Yes, of course it's important enough to disturb him.'

'Straighten your tie, Stephen. The world is already filled with enough disorder.'

revise the basics: this, that, these, those

Dear Phil,

Well, some ¹ our luggage has arrived, so things could be worse. I've got the books and papers, but I've lost most ² my clothes. I haven't got any ³ socks at all, and I'll have to buy some more ⁴ jeans, but at least I've got enough ⁵ underwear for the week. (They don't sell it here. I don't think they wear it.) I'm going to buy a few ⁶ those woollen shirts that you like, and one ⁷ the big coats that we looked at. They've got no ⁸ shoes in my size, unfortunately, and none ⁹ the jackets suit me. Anyway, I'm not alone. Every one ¹⁰ us has lost something – in fact, three ¹¹ people have got no ¹² luggage at all. Well, as they say, into each ¹³ life a little ¹⁴ rain must fall. See you on the 17th.

SECTION 13 personal pronouns and possessives

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

I, you, he, she, it, we, you, they	me, you, him, her, it, us, you, them
my, your, his, her, its, our, your, their	mine, yours, his, hers, ours, yours, theirs
myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves	each other

We use pronouns when it is not necessary, or not possible, to use a more exact noun phrase.

Jake emailed me yesterday. He said ...

(The speaker uses the personal pronoun he because it is not necessary to repeat 'Jake'.)

Karen talks about herself all the time.

(It is unnecessary to repeat 'Karen'.)

In this section we explain uses of personal pronouns (I, me, you etc), possessives (my, your etc and mine, yours etc), reflexives (myself, yourself etc) and each other.

'I used to do it all myself, but now I have my lawyers handle it.'

'For your first effort you should write about something you understand.
Don't write about yourself.'

revise the basics: I, me, my, mine etc possessives a friend of mine Anne broke her arm.

We don't put possessives immediately after articles or after this/that etc. Instead, we use the structure a/this etc ... of mine/yours etc.

She's a friend of mine. (NOT She's a my friend.)

How's that brother of yours? (NOT How's that your brother?)

1 Use this structure to join the ideas.

► that + your smelly dog that smelly dog of yours

- 1 these + our silly cats
- 2 that + her unemployed brother
- 3 another + my good friend
- 4 a + my brilliant idea
- 5 these + his stupid plans
- 6 those + your old books
- 7 some + his distant relations
- 8 a + her beautiful cousin
- 9 this + your wonderful news
- 10 that + our lazy son

We often use possessives with parts of the body and clothes.

Anne broke her arm skiing. (NOT Anne broke the arm-skiing.)

He stood there, his eyes closed and his hands in his pockets.

2 Put in one of the words from the box with a suitable possessive.

- 8 'How do you know he's lying?' ' are moving.'
- 9 Don't come into the house with all wet.
- 10 Please open and look at me.

We often use the instead of a possessive in expressions with prepositions, especially when we talk about common kinds of pain and physical contact, and when the possessor has already been mentioned.

He's got a pain in the chest. She hit me on the head. I looked him in the eye.

We use possessives with own.

my own room / a room of my own (NOT an own room) personal pronouns 'Who's that?' 'It's me.'

After be, we usually use object pronouns: me, him etc. (I, he etc are possible, but they are very formal and unusual in modern English.)

'Who's that?' 'It's me.' (NOT NORMALLY 'It is I.') 'Where's Maggie?' 'That's her over there.'

In short answers we can use me, him etc (informal) or I, he etc with a verb (more formal). The same thing happens after as and than.

INFORMAL

'I'm thirsty.' 'Me too.' (NOT 'I too.')
 'Who's paying?' 'Her.'
 I've got the same number as him.
 She gets paid more than me.

MORE FORMAL

We use it to refer to nothing, everything, something and anything.

We also use it when we answer questions about who people are.

SECTION 14 nouns

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

English nouns can be countable (we can say two dogs) or uncountable (we can't say two waters).

Countable nouns have plurals (dogs), and we can use a/an with them (a dog, an apology).

Uncountable nouns have no plurals, and we can't use a/an before them.

Some English uncountable nouns are countable in some other languages (like information).

We can join two nouns:

- with a possessive 's or s' (for example my sister's car, my parents' neighbours).
- with a preposition (for example the top of the hill).
- directly one after the other (for example orange juice, a flower shop).

Usually, an idea can be expressed in only one of these ways, and it is often difficult to know which is correct.

The rules on pages 207–210 will help, but there are exceptions – this is a difficult point of grammar.

mixed singular and plural My family are angry with me.

Singular nouns for groups of people often have plural verbs and pronouns in British English, especially when we are talking about personal kinds of action. Compare:

My family are very angry with me: they think I should go to university.

The average family has 3.5 members: it is much smaller than in 1900.

The team are going to lose again. They're useless.

A cricket team is made up of eleven players, including its captain.

A number of us are worried about it. (NOT A number of us is ...)

The majority of teachers disagree.

There are a couple of children outside. The rest of the members are ill.

Some plural expressions (names of quantities, and expressions joined by and) have singular verbs.

Ten pounds is too much to pay. The United States is smaller than Canada. Fish and chips costs £8.

2 Choose the right verb.

revise the basics: possessive 's

SINGULAR noun(s) + 's: my mother's car Sarah and Henry's house (NOT Sarah's and Henry's house)

PLURAL noun + ': my parents' home

IRREGULAR plural + 's: the children's names

- 1 Make possessive forms from the expressions in List 1, to combine with expressions from List 2. Make fifteen combinations.

LIST 1 your sister Jonathan Emily and Claire those women my teachers
Katie our dog Simon and Jill most people doctors

LIST 2 address car/cars ideas health legs father/fathers nose/noses clothes education fear of heights

► your sister's address	8
► my teachers' clothes	9
1	10
2	11
3	12
4	13
5	14
6	15
7

Possessives usually replace articles before nouns. We can say the car or Sue's car, but not Sue's the car or the Sue's car. But a possessive word can have its own article: the boss's car.

NOTE ALSO: that car of Sue's; a friend of Joe's (like a friend of mine – see page 191).

- 2 Right or wrong? Correct the mistakes or write 'Correct'.

► my mothers car mother's

► Anna's sister .. Correct

- 1 Is this the teacher's pen?
- 2 Are you the Al's daughter?
- 3 Do you know Lesley's last name?

- 6 It was the school's responsibility.
- 7 What's the Wilsons' number?
- 8 That's an old habit of Marion's.
- 9 It's a crazy idea of Alice.
- 10 Where is that brother of Carol?

'I laid 67,000 eggs last year, and if I don't receive a Mother's Day card there'll be trouble.'

NOTE: We spent the evening at Cathy's. (=... at Cathy's house.)

She's at the hairdresser's. I bought it at Harrod's.

possessive 's or of ... my father's name; the name of the book

We use the possessive 's structure especially when the first noun is the name of a person, group of people, organisation, country or animal.

In other cases we generally prefer a structure with of. Compare:

my father's name	the name of the book
the firm's structure	the structure of plastic
America's influence	the influence of alcohol
the dog's head	the head of the bed

We also use the possessive 's structure with common 'time when' expressions, and in expressions of measurement of time.

today's paper tomorrow's weather yesterday's news a month's holiday three hours' delay

1 Join the expressions in the box to make expressions with possessive 's or ', or with of.

the club + its monthly meeting ✓ his parents + their car ✓ the world + its end ✓

- 7 rules: the club, football
- 8 view: the committee, the lake
- 9 head: the cat, the queue
- 10 arm: the chair, John revise the basics: noun + noun

We often put one noun in front of another. The first noun is rather like an adjective, and is usually singular, even if the meaning is plural.

a horse race (a kind of race) a race horse (a kind of horse)

a shoe shop (NOT a shoes shop) a Lancashire man

a ten-mile walk (NOT a ten-miles walk)

Articles belonging to the first noun are dropped in this structure. Officers in the army = army officers, NOT the army officers.

1 Match the expressions on the left with their meanings on the right.

0 coffee table	A shoe made of leather
1 chocolate milk	B book describing cases
2 milk chocolate	C chocolate made with milk
3 book case	D leather for making shoes
4 case book	E drawing done in ink
5 leather shoe	F garden with flowers in
6 shoe leather	G ink used for drawing
7 flower garden	H milk flavoured with chocolate
8 garden flower	I piece of furniture for books
9 ink drawing	J flower that grows in gardens
10 drawing ink	K table for coffee o

2 What do you call these?

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|--|
| 1 a shop that sells music | 9 furniture for the garden |
| 2 a man from Birmingham | 10 a sign in the road |
| 3 a frame for a picture | 11 a brush for teeth |
| 4 tea made from mint | 12 programmes about wildlife |
| 5 the clock in the station | |
| 6 a rocket that goes into space | 13 a bottle for wine |
| | 14 a play produced by a school |
| 7 a factory that makes biscuits | |
| | 15 a paper that is sold in the evening |
| 8 powder made from soap | |

3 Put these words into pairs to make noun + noun expressions. Change plural to singular if necessary.

antique	bicycle	bus	cowboy	door	film	grapes	juice	kitchen	map
newspapers	publisher	race	roads	shop	station

Note the difference between, for example, a water bottle (a bottle for water, which may be full or empty) and a bottle of water (a bottle with water in).

noun + noun or preposition road signs; signs of anger

We use the noun + noun structure for well-known everyday combinations.

To talk about things that do not go together so often, we usually prefer a structure with a preposition. Compare:

- | | |
|----------------|--|
| a war film | a film about a dog (NOT a dog film) |
| a history book | a book about violins (NOT a violin book) |
| a postman | a man from the bank (NOT a bank man) |
| road signs | signs of anger (NOT anger signs) |
| a corner table | the girl in the corner (NOT the corner girl) |

1 Eight of these ideas can naturally be expressed by 'noun + noun'. Which are they? Rewrite them.

- 1 a cake made of chocolate
- 2 a child in the garden
- 3 a cupboard in the kitchen
- 4 a box for matches
- 5 paste for cleaning teeth
- 6 discussions about furniture
- 7 the door to the kitchen
- 8 a bottle designed for wine
- 9 a timetable of trains
- 10 a book about the moon
- 11 chairs for the garden
- 12 a man with a hat

2 Look at the labels. Can you think of five more names of food that use the noun + noun structure?

- 1
- 3
- 5

Newspaper headlines often save space by using the noun + noun structure instead of the preposition structure. Strings of three or four nouns are common.

Channel ferry safety drill leaves 18 injured

Decision day in rail dispute

Football club burglars cut home phones

one(s) a big one with cream

We use one(s) to avoid repeating a countable noun.

'What sort of cake would you like?' 'A big one with cream.'

I'd like some shoes like the ones in the window.

'Could you lend me a pen?' 'Sorry, I haven't got one.'

We don't use one for an uncountable noun.

We haven't got fresh cream. Would you like tinned? (NOT ... tinned one.)

1 Put in words and expressions from the box with or without one(s).

Chinese cold long sunny new red woollen ✓ sharp small metal solid practical that I've read unsweetened orange white cotton

► 'What colour cardigans would you like to see?' 'Red woollen ones....., please.'

- 1 There's my suitcase, the
- 2 I've lost my jacket. It's a
- 3 'What kind of juice is that?' '
- 4 I've got too many books. I'm giving away the
- 5 She doesn't sell used cars, only

- 7 This isn't Thai food, it's
- 8 I don't want pretty shoes, but
- 9 Hand me a knife, will you – a
- 10 Don't wash this in warm water. Use

If there is no adjective, we do not use a with one.

'What sort of cake would you like?' 'One with cream.' (NOT 'A one...')

We use some/any without ones. We use mine etc instead of my one etc.

'Could you lend me some stamps?' 'I haven't got any.' (NOT '... any ones.)'

'Which car shall we take?' 'Mine.' (NOT 'My one.)'

2 Put in one, some, any or mine/yours etc.

- 1 'What sort of job would you like to do?' ' where I travel a lot.'
- 2 I haven't got a train timetable, but ask Adrian – he may have
- 3 'Is that your car or Anna's?' ' – Anna hasn't got a car.'
- 4 There aren't any matches here, but there may be in the kitchen.
- 5 I need a watch – with an alarm.
- 6 'Where are the forks?' 'Oh, no! We didn't bring!'
- 7 Barry has put his name on this book, but Liz says it's 3 Give your own answers to the questions. Use one.

- 1 What sort of car would you like?
- 2 What sort of house would you like?
- 3 What sort of garden would you like?
- 4 What sort of job would you like?

SECTION 15 adjectives and adverbs

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

Adjectives are words like easy, slow, sorry, important. They can go before nouns, or after some verbs (e.g. be, seem, look, appear, smell, taste). Some kinds of adjective normally go before others (e.g. opinion before description).

an interesting old cathedral

The exact rules are complicated (and not very important).

Adverbs are words like easily, slowly, yesterday, there. Different kinds of adverb go in different positions, for example with the verb, or at the end of a sentence.

Harry often goes to Denmark. I've never seen a rhinoceros. You are probably right.

I only play tennis with Gary. The team played badly last night.

Some words (e.g. fast, loud, daily) can be both adjectives and adverbs.

Many adverbs end in -ly (e.g. carefully). But a few words ending in -ly are adjectives (e.g. friendly).

'If a thing is worth doing,
it is worth doing well.'

(Traditional)

'If a thing is worth doing,
it is worth doing badly.'

(G K Chesterton)

'Speak softly and carry a big stick.'

(President Theodore Roosevelt)

'Power tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely.'

(Lord Acton)

'[You are] incredibly, inordinately, devastatingly, immortally, calamitously, hearteningly, adorably beautiful!'

(The poet Rupert Brooke to the actress Cathleen Nesbitt)

revise the basics: adjectives, adverbs of manner

ADJECTIVES: kind, shy, cold, angry, wonderful, bad, unusual, mad

ADVERBS OF MANNER: kindly, shyly, coldly, angrily, wonderfully, badly, unusually, madly

We use adjectives after some verbs, to say how something is, seems, becomes, looks, feels, sounds, tastes or smells.

She is kind. She seems/appears shy. It's getting cold.

He felt angry (NOT He felt angrily). That smells wonderful.

We use adverbs of manner with other verbs to say how something happens or is done.

She spoke kindly but shyly. (NOT She spoke kind ...) He answered me coldly. He closed the door angrily.

His plan appeared impossible. (= 'His plan seemed ...') adjectives without nouns in the country of the blind

We can use the + adjective (without a noun) to talk about some social groups.

the young	the old	the rich	the poor	the sick	the disabled	the blind	the deaf
the mentally ill	the homeless	the unemployed		the dead

These expressions are plural: the blind means 'blind people'. Compare:

I'm collecting money for the blind.

Do you know the blind person next door? (NOT ... the blind next door?)

I met a blind man on the train. (NOT... a blind ...)

We can't use all adjectives in this way: we don't normally talk about the foreign or the greedy, for example.

1 Complete the sentences with expressions from the box.

the blind	the dead	the living	the living	the old	the poor
the poor	the rich	the rich	the young	the young

NOTE: This structure is not used with other adjectives for nationalities; instead, we use plural nouns.

The Brazilians speak Portuguese. (NOT The-Brazilian ...)

order of adjectives a terrible little boy; old and grey

Level 2

This is a complicated (and not very important) point of grammar. The following rules have exceptions.

Words for colour, origin/place, material and purpose go in that order. Other adjectives come before these.

OTHER	COLOUR	ORIGIN/PLACE	MATERIAL	PURPOSE
old	red	Spanish	leather	riding
a	funny	brown	German	boots beer mug

1 Here are descriptions from a newspaper, a journal, a biography and a novel.

Rewrite each description in the right order.

- club: jazz, local local jazz club (place before purpose)
- 1 buildings: modern, industrial
 - 2 dress: evening, silk, red
 - 3 eyes: narrow, colourless
 - 4 trunks: black, swimming, nylon
 - 5 frame: gold, flat
 - 6 tie: blue, woollen
 - 7 jacket: short, leather
 - 8 boots: French, ski

Opinions often come before descriptions.

OPINION	DESCRIPTION
funny	old
a	terrible nice	new buildings boy clothes

2 Rewrite these descriptions in the right order.

- books: old, terrible terrible old books (opinion + description)
- 1 city: Belgian, beautiful, little
 - 2 dinner: excellent, cold
 - 3 furniture: old, lovely
 - 4 ideas: strange, new
 - 5 university: grey, concrete, depressing

We use and with adjectives that refer to different parts of something. Compare:

a long green dress (NOT a long-and-green dress) a long green and black dress

When adjectives come after a verb, we usually put and before the last.

He was tall, dark and handsome. I'm cold, tired and hungry.

3 Rewrite the words in italics, adding and if necessary.

- The brick was rough/pink. rough and pink 4 The sea was cold/rough.
- a narrow/brown room narrow, brown 5 The church was old/ugly.
- 1 hot/breezy weather
 - 2 untidy/red hair
 - 3 The man was young/bearded.
 - 4 The sea was cold/rough.
 - 5 The church was old/ugly.
 - 6 a quiet/tense woman
 - 7 yellow/grey sand
 - 8 The badges were red/blue.

First, next and last usually come before numbers.

the first three weeks (NOT the three first weeks) my last two holidays adverbs with the verb I can never wake up in time.

Adverbs that go with the verb include words expressing frequency (e.g. always, often, usually, never) and certainty (e.g. definitely probably). Note the exact position:

AFTER AM/ARE/IS/WAS/WERE

*You are usually right.
It was certainly cold.*

AFTER AUXILIARY VERBS

*She has probably forgotten.
I can never wake up in time.*

BEFORE OTHER VERBS

*He always forgot my birthday.
I often get headaches.*

NOT BETWEEN VERB AND OBJECT

*He forgot always my birthday.
I get often headaches.*

If there is more than one auxiliary verb, adverbs of frequency and certainty usually go after the first auxiliary.

The roof has never been repaired. I will definitely be seeing him tonight.

Adverbs go before or after not, depending on the meaning. Compare:

It's definitely not raining. She's not often late.

even and only; end-position adverbs

Even and only can go just before the words that they emphasise.

He plays tennis even in the rain. They've lived here only a few weeks.

He eats anything – even raw potatoes. Only you could do a thing like that.

But they most often go with the verb when they focus on words later in the sentence.

He's rude to everybody. He's even rude to me. (NOT Even he's rude to me.)

He works in the garage on Tuesdays. (NOT ... on Tuesdays in the garage.)

He's working there now. Let's go to bed early. (NOT ... early to bed.)

We do not normally put adverbs between a verb and its object.

2 Put the words in brackets into the sentences (not before the verb).

A few words have irregular comparatives and superlatives.

good – better – best	bad – worse – worst	far – farther/further – farthest/furthest
old – older/elder – oldest/eldest	little – less – least	much/many – more – most

Farther/further and farthest/furthest are both used to talk about distance.

We use further to mean 'additional' in some expressions. (NOT farther)

She lives three miles farther/further away from the office than I do.

further education further information further discussion

Elder and eldest are used with brother, sister, son, daughter, grandson, granddaughter.

John's my elder brother. (I have one brother older than me.)

using comparatives and superlatives

We use a comparative (with than) to compare one person, thing, action or group with another person, thing etc.
We use a superlative to compare one person, thing etc with the whole group that he/she/it belongs to.

Mary's taller than her three sisters. Mary's the tallest of the four girls.

Your accent is worse than mine. Your accent is the worst in the class.

Before a superlative we normally use the or a possessive.

the best singer my oldest friend John's most attractive quality

5 Compare hotels. Here are some facts about three hotels. Write at least ten sentences.

	HOTEL X	HOTEL Y	HOTEL Z
expensive?	£££££	£££	£ comfortable?	🛏️🛏️🛏️	🛏️🛏️🛏️🛏️🛏️	🛏️ efficient?	★★	★★★	★★★★★ friendly?	😊	😊😊😊😊😊	😊😊😊😊
convenient?	city centre	middle of nowhere	two miles out

Hotel Y is more expensive than Hotel Z. Hotel X is the most expensive of the three hotels.

Some people use a comparative instead of a superlative when the whole group has two members.

I like them both, but Sally's the nicer/nicest of the two.

You can have the bigger/biggest steak if you like – I'm not very hungry.

revise the basics: comparative and superlative adverbs

Could you drive more slowly? (NOT ... slowlier?)

French is the language he speaks (the) most easily.

After not, we can use so ... as instead of as ... as.

He's not so/as successful as his father.

Other useful structures: as much/many as, the same as.

I haven't got as much time as I thought. We need as many people as possible.

She earns twice as much money as me / as I do.

more about superlatives the best player of us all

After superlatives, we often use of.

It was the most successful of his early plays. She's the best player of us all.

The nicest moment of the day.

But we do not use of with a singular word for a place or group.

I'm the happiest man in the world. (NOT ... of the world.) She's the best player in the team.

1 Of or in after a superlative?

We normally use the before a superlative when we are comparing one person/thing/group with others.

But we do not use the when we are comparing somebody or something with him/her/itself in other situations.

like and as; so and such

We can use like and as to say that things are similar.

Like is a preposition, used before a noun or pronoun.

As is a conjunction, used before subject + verb or a prepositional expression.

He runs like the wind. She looks like me.

Nobody knows her as I do. On Friday, as on Monday, we meet at eight.

Note the common expressions as I said, as you know, as you see, as usual.

| 4 In Paris, in Rome, traffic is heavy. | 9 Your smile is your sister's. |
| 5 His eyes are knives. | 10 I said, you're too late. |

In informal speech (but not writing), many people use like as a conjunction.

Nobody loves you like I do. Like I said, she wasn't there.

To talk about jobs, functions etc, we use as, not like.

He's working as a waiter. (NOT He's working like a waiter.) I used my shoe as a hammer.

Compare:

As your brother, I must warn you to be careful. (I am your brother.)

Like your brother, I must warn you ... (We both warn you.)

We use so before an adjective (without a noun), or an adverb.

We use such before (adjective +) noun. A/An comes after such.

SECTION 17 conjunctions

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

after although and as if as long as as soon as because before but provided that

 (For if, see Section 18.)

We use conjunctions to join sentences together.

I rang John because I didn't know what to do. We came home after the shops closed.
She can take my bike as long as she brings it back this evening.

Some conjunctions (and the words that follow them) can go in two places.

I told him as soon as I knew. As soon as I knew, I told him.

We use present tenses to talk about the future with time-conjunctions.

I'll wait here until the office opens.

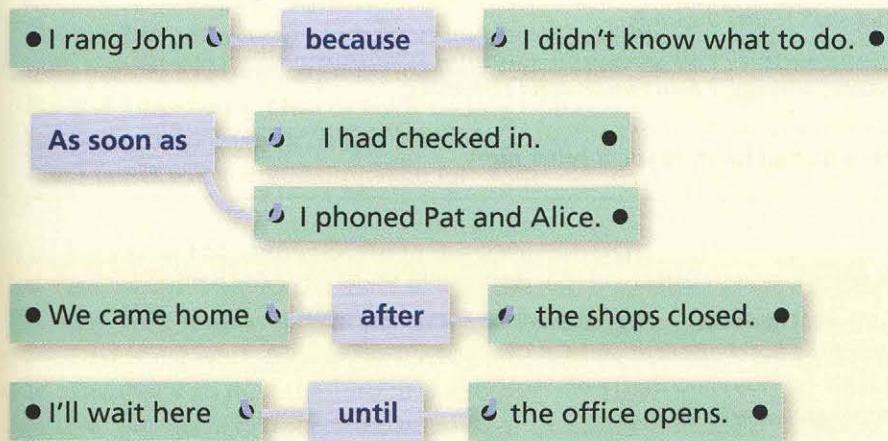

We can use perfect tenses with time conjunctions to express completion.

Traffic will be easier after they've built the new road.

As soon as I had checked in, I phoned Pat and Alice to fix a meeting.

After some conjunctions, -ing forms can be used.

Always look in the mirror before driving off.

revise the basics: use and position of conjunctions

Conjunctions join clauses into sentences. Examples: but, because, while, if.

She was poor but she was honest. I went to bed because I was tired.

Can you watch the kids while I'm out? I'll do it if I can.

1 DO IT YOURSELF Which of the words could come just before '... she went home'?

Those words are conjunctions. The others are not.

after Yes..... all No..... although and as at because before by if or since so that this under unless until when whether with

Some conjunctions and their clauses can go either first or last in a sentence.

We often use a comma (,) when the conjunction and its clause are first in the sentence.

If you need help, come and see me. Come and see me if you need help.

2 Write the sentences with the clauses in italics first, when this is possible.

1 I'll come round to your place after I've finished work.

2 Let's have a weekend in the country when the weather gets better.

.....

3 You ought to see Paula before you go back to Canada.

.....

4 I'm quite sure that she's telling the truth.

.....

5 I enjoyed the lecture, although I didn't understand everything.

.....

6 Your train leaves in half an hour, so you'd better hurry.

.....

One conjunction is enough to join two clauses – we do not normally use two conjunctions.

Although she was tired, she went to work. She was tired, but she went to work.

(BUT NOT Although she was tired, but she went to work.)

As you know, I work very hard. You know that I work very hard.

(BUT NOT As you know, that I work very hard.)

3 Put in a conjunction or nothing (-).

Revise

If the time is made clear once in a sentence, this may be enough. So tenses are simplified after many conjunctions. For example, we often use present tenses instead of will after when, before, after, until, as soon as and if.

I'll tell you when I know myself. I'll see you before I go.

Let's go out after the rain stops. You won't get in until you buy a ticket.

I know she'll phone as soon as I go to bed. If you hold it like that, it'll break.

1 Put in the correct verb form: present tense or will

- 1 When I time, I to her. (have; write)
- 2 here until the plane off? (you stay; take)
- 3 As soon as I, I you. (arrive; phone)
- 4 If you there first, keep a seat for me. (get)
- 5 I you again when I next in London. (see; be)
- 6 I the window as soon as it raining. (open; stop)
- 7 You can borrow my coat if you it back. (bring)
- 8 I here until you time to answer my question. (wait; have)
- 9 After you university, you time to travel a bit. (finish; have)
- 10 It dark before we home. (be; get)

If and when can be followed by will in indirect and direct questions.

Then Mark said something very unpleasant.⁹ Carola had stopped crying, Jenny said, 'Well, what about two weeks in Rome?' and everybody else started shouting, 'Are you crazy? Rome in August. 35 degrees.' etc etc. When they had all finished shouting I said I'd make a cup of tea¹⁰ we could all calm down a little. after although in spite of provided ¹³ I was beginning to get a little cross by this time, I kept my temper¹⁴ everything. I just asked politely if they thought I was running a hotel. Then Jenny said something very unpleasant, and Carola said she thought she would have a lovely holiday¹⁵ she didn't have to go with any of us, and John threw a book at her, and Carola hit John with a flower vase, and everything became extremely confused.¹⁶ the police had left, we decided to put off a decision about holidays for a day or two.

SECTION 18 if etc

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

In sentences with if, most tenses are possible.

He certainly won't come tomorrow if he came yesterday. If that was John, why didn't he say hello?

If you've been to Rome, I suppose you've seen the Colosseum. Metals expand if you heat them.

If you're happy, I'm happy.

Note the following three important structures:

- present tenses for future:

With if (and many other conjunctions) we use present tenses to talk about the future.

I'll tell you if I get any news. (NOT ... if I will get any news.)

- if* + past, ... would ...

We can use past tenses with if to show that we feel something is not real or not probable now.

(We normally use would in the other part of the sentence.)

If I spoke Arabic, I would go and work in Egypt.

- if* + past perfect, ... would have ...

To talk about unreal past events – situations that did not happen – we use if* + past perfect.

(We normally use would have + past participle in the other part of the sentence.)

If I had taken Mary's advice, I would have been in deep trouble.

These three structures are often called 'first', 'second' and 'third conditional'.

The structure with two present tenses (e.g. If you're happy, I'm happy) is sometimes called 'zero conditional', for no very good reason.

We can use unless to mean 'if not', 'except if'.

You can't work here unless you belong to the union. (= ... if you don't belong to the union.)

Note the difference between in case and if.

I take my raincoat in case it rains. (= ... because it might rain.)

I put my raincoat on if it rains.

Past tenses can be used to talk about the present or future not only after if, but also after it's time and would rather (= 'would prefer').

It's time you went home.

I'm busy today. I'd rather we had the meeting tomorrow.

'If we had some eggs we could have bacon and eggs if we had some bacon.'
(old army joke)

'Look, I should sit down if I were you. Have you got a drink? Now it's nothing to worry about, really it isn't...'

revise the basics: ordinary tense use

If can be used with the same tenses as most conjunctions.

If you didn't do much maths at school, you'll find economics difficult.

If that was John, why didn't he say hello? Metals expand if you heat them.

An if-clause can come at the beginning or end of a sentence. When it comes first, it is often separated by a comma (,) in writing.

If you have any problems, telephone 4966498.

Telephone 4966498 if you have any problems.

I'll give her your love if I see her. (NOT ... if I will see her.)

We use if + past tense + would to talk about things that are not real or not probable now.

IF + PAST TENSE

If I had a million dollars,
if you were the boss,
if she didn't buy so many clothes,

WOULD + INFINITIVE (WITHOUT TO)

I would build myself a big house.
what would you do?
she'd have enough money for food.

After I and we, should is possible instead of would. (Would is more common.)

3 Write some sentences beginning If I were you ... to a friend / your teacher / your mother / your father / your child / the President / the Pope ...

revise the basics: if I go and if I went

The difference between, for example, if I go ... and if I went ... or if I speak ... and if I spoke ... is not a difference of time. They can both refer to the present or future.

The past tense (+ would) usually suggests that the speaker thinks the situation is less probable, or less definite, or impossible, or imaginary. Compare:

If I become President, I'll ... (said by a candidate in an election)

If I became President, I'd ... (said by a schoolgirl)

If I win this race, I'll ... (said by the fastest runner) Is it all right if I invite John to supper? (direct request)

If I won this race, I'd ... (said by the slowest runner) Would it be all right if I invited John to supper? (polite request)

We can use could to mean 'would be able to'.

If you arrived early, we could talk about the meeting. If Joe came, he could help with the dog.

Sometimes we use could twice: once as a past tense (to say that something is not real / not probable), and once for would be able to.

unreal past situations If Jane hadn't helped me, ...

IF + PAST PERFECT

If Mary had felt better,
If you had told me the truth,
If Jane hadn't helped me,
If she hadn't gone climbing,

WOULD HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE

Instead of would have ..., we can use could have ... (= 'would have been able to').

If he'd run a bit faster, he could have won.

2 Write sentence chains with if to show how things could have been different.

- 1 He worked hard → passed exams → went to university → studied languages → learnt Spanish → went to Argentina → went climbing in the Andes → disappeared in a snowstorm

If he hadn't worked so hard, he wouldn't have passed his exams.

If only and I wish: tenses If only I knew...

If only ...! and wish can be used with would and past tenses.

These structures express regrets, and wishes for unlikely or impossible things.

Past tenses are used to talk about the present.

If only I knew more people! I wish I was better looking.

1 Write sentences beginning If only or I wish.

► The radio doesn't work. I wish the radio worked. OR If only the radio worked!

- 6 I don't like dancing.
- 7 It rains all the time.
- 8 She works on Sundays.
- 9 I can't eat eggs.

This often expresses dissatisfaction or annoyance: it can sound critical.

I wish this damned car would start. If only it would stop raining!

2 Write sentences with If only ... would or I wish ... would in case I'm taking my umbrella in case it rains.

We use in case mostly to talk about precautions – things we do to be ready for what might happen. After in case we use a present tense to talk about the future.

I wrote down her address in case I forgot it.

I've bought a chicken in case your mother stays to lunch.

We can use should after in case – this gives the idea of 'by chance'.

I've bought a chicken in case your mother should stay to lunch.*

Should is common in sentences about the past.

SECTION 19 relatives

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

who (whom) which that what whose

We use relative pronouns to join sentences to nouns.

The girl was only 15. She got the gold medal. The girl who got the gold medal was only 15.

We use who for people and which for things. We can also use that for people and things.

There's the man who/that built our garage. They sent a letter which/that I didn't get.

whose is a possessive relative pronoun.

I want to talk to the man whose car is parked outside our house.

Relative pronouns replace he/she/it etc. We don't use both.

(NOT The girl who she got the gold medal...)

Where and when can be used as relatives referring to place and time.

I'll never forget the day when I first met you. (= '... the day on which ...')

Do you know a shop where I can find sandals? (= '... a shop at which ...')

We often leave out object pronouns, but not subject pronouns.

Here are those photos (which/that) you lent me.

*The photos which/that show the kids are lovely. (NOT The photos show the kids...)*

Prepositions can often go in two places.

The deal about which we were talking wasn't possible. (formal)

The deal that we were talking about wasn't possible. (informal)

We can use what to mean 'the thing(s) which'.

You never get exactly what you want.

Some relative clauses identify the noun that they go with; some do not. The grammar is a little different for the two kinds.

The woman my brother is going to marry is really nice. (identifying)

Sandra Peters, whom my brother is going to marry, is really nice. (non-identifying)

'Women have their faults

Men have only two:

Everything they say,

Everything they do.'

(Traditional)

'Everything I like is either illegal, immoral or fattening.'

(Traditional)

'Nothing that is worth learning can be taught.' (Oscar Wilde)

'No man can lose what he never had.'
(Izaak Walton)

'A politician is a statesman who approaches every question with an open mouth.' (Adlai Stevenson)

'It's really very simple, Miss Everhart. Now you just move the cursor across the screen to the area of the world you wish to destroy.'

revise the basics: who(m), which and that

We can use sentences to describe nouns.

To join sentences to nouns, we use relative pronouns: who (for people) and which (for things).

I've got a friend. He collects stamps. → I've got a friend who collects stamps.

There's a problem. It worries me. → There's a problem which worries me.

Holly's lost the watch. I bought it for her. → Holly's lost the watch which I bought for her.

We use who or which instead of he, him, she, it etc. Don't use both.

The man who lives opposite has been ill. (NOT The man who he lives opposite ...)

This is the report which you wanted. (NOT ... which you wanted it.)

1 Join the sentences in the places marked *. Change he, it etc to who or which.

► I know a shop*. It sells good coffee. I know a shop which sells good coffee......

► Most of the people* work in London. They live in our village.

.... Most of the people who live in our village work in London......

6 I want some plates*. They can go in the microwave.

7 They haven't got the shirt* in your size. You wanted it.

We often use that instead of which, and instead of who in an informal style.

2 Rewrite sentences 1–5 from Exercise 1 using that.

- 2
- 3
- 5

3 Write a true sentence beginning Most of the people that I know ...

We normally use that, not which, after all, everything, nothing, the only ... and superlatives.

We do not use what in these cases (see page 271).

I've told you everything that I know. (NOT ... everything what I know.)

The only thing that matters to me is your happiness.

Whom can be used as an object for people. It is rather formal; in an informal style we often prefer who.

What is the name of that nurse whom we met last week? (formal)

What's the name of that nurse who/that we met last week? (informal)

Whom is always used after prepositions.

the woman with whom I travelled (NOT the woman with who I travelled)

We can leave out object pronouns who(m), which and that, but not usually subject pronouns.

Where's that letter that I saw this morning? → Where's that letter I saw this morning?

Help yourself. Take what you like.

When what is a subject, it has a singular verb.

prepositions in relative clauses the girl I was talking about

Level 2

In relative clauses (after who, whom, which, that), verb + preposition combinations usually stay together. This means that prepositions can be separated from their relative pronoun objects.

	OBJECT		VERB + PREPOSITION
something	(that)	you can	write with
the girl	(whom)	I was	talking about
the music	(which)	we	listened to

Prepositions can also go before their objects, but this is usually very formal.

non-identifying relative clauses Kelly, who does my hair, ...

Level 2

Some relative clauses identify – they say who or what we are talking about.
Others do not identify, because it is already clear who or what we are talking about.

1 DO IT YOURSELF Which relative clauses identify? Circle A or B.

- A The woman who/that does my hair has just had a baby.
B Kelly, who does my hair, has just had a baby.
- 1 A She married a man (that/who/whom) she met on a bus.
B She married a nice architect from Belfast, whom she met on a bus.

B I lent him The Old Man and the Sea, which is really easy to read.
- 3 A What did you think of the wine (that) we had last night?
B I poured him a glass of wine, which he drank at once.

2 DO IT YOURSELF Look at Exercise 1 again and answer the questions.

- 1 Without the relative clauses, which make more sense – the A or B sentences?
- 2 Non-identifying clauses (in the B sentences) have commas (,). Can you see why?
- 3 In which kind of clause can we use that instead of who(m) or which – A or B?
- 4 In which kind of clause can we leave out a relative pronoun when it is the object?
- 5 Do you think non-identifying clauses are more formal or more informal?

3 Change who/whom/which to that, or leave it out, if possible.

► People who don't answer letters annoy me. that

- 6 I've had a card from Sally, who used to live next door.
- 7 Do you remember those awful people who we met in Corfu?
- 8 We had good advice from James, whom we consulted about investments.

Note the use of which to refer to a whole clause. Compare:

He took out the teeth which/that were causing the trouble. (which/that = 'the teeth')

He took out two teeth, which was a real pity. (which = the clause 'He took out two teeth')

Note that what cannot be used in this way.

He got the job, which surprised us all. (NOT ... what surprised us all.)

4 Put in which or what.

- 1 She cycles to work every day, keeps her healthy.
- 2 I very much liked you said at the meeting.

reading sentences with relative clauses

Relative clauses can make sentences more difficult to read.

A 36-year-old teacher who was arrested in Cardiff after trying to set fire to a school is said to have seriously injured two policemen.

The financial problems which some of the company's branches have been facing over the last eighteen months are mainly caused by increased foreign competition.

1 DO IT YOURSELF Why do the relative clauses make the above sentences harder to read?

Circle the letter of the best explanation.

- A They separate the subject from the object.
- B They separate the subject from the verb.
- C They separate the verb from the object.

When object relative pronouns are left out, this can make reading even more difficult.

Some people we met when we were at a conference in Scotland last year have just written to invite us to stay with them. (= 'Some people that we met ...')

Extra difficulty can be caused when relative clauses end in prepositions.

*The woman my friend Barbara was out shopping with was her stepmother.
(= 'The woman that my friend Barbara was out shopping with ...')*

2 Make these sentences easier to read by adding that.

► The earrings he gave her for Christmas must have cost at least £500.
The earrings that he gave her ...

1 The parcel he got that morning was addressed to someone else.

.....

2 The sofa we bought last year is falling to pieces already.

.....

7 The song she could not remember the name of was Rambling Boy.

.....

8 A boy I was at school with has just written a best-selling novel.

The hair of the young woman sitting next to me on the park bench was purple. (It was not the park bench that was purple.)

The picture that I put in Helen's room needs cleaning. (It's not the room that needs cleaning.)

Who were the uncles?

Who telephoned?
- 6 Police called to a house in Brent, Derbyshire, after neighbours reported cries for help found 18-year-old Justin Evans stuck in a small window after being locked out of his home.

Three quarters of those questioned wanted more money. (= '... those who were questioned ...')

Three children found sleeping in Abbey Park late last night were taken to a foster home by social workers.

SECTION 20 indirect speech

GRAMMAR SUMMARY

When we tell people what somebody said or thought, we often use indirect speech.

Tenses, here-and-now words (like this, here, today) and pronouns (like I, you) may change in indirect speech after past reporting verbs. This is because the time, place and speaker may be different.

'I'm going to stay here for the rest of this week.' →

Susan said that she was going to stay there for the rest of that week.

Past perfect tenses and some modal verbs (e.g. should, must) don't change in indirect speech.

'I had seen her somewhere before.' → I said I had seen her somewhere before.

'You must fill in these three forms.' → They told me I must fill in three forms.

We often leave out that, especially after common verbs like say and think.

Susan said she really liked it there.

Indirect questions have a different structure from direct questions.

'Where's your luggage?' → He asked me where my luggage was.

'Do you know Karen?' → She asked me if I knew Karen.

We can use object + infinitive after some verbs, like ask and tell.

I asked him to talk more quietly. We told Oliver not to lock the garage.

And we can use infinitives after most question words.

Tell us what to do. I don't know how to switch on this computer.

He said he would love me for ever
 With a love that would never grow cool.
 He said he would always be faithful.
 I believed every word. What a fool!
 But now that he's no longer with me
 I'm glad to be free of his lies.
 And if I am sorry, I'm sorry for him,
 For he'll be with himself till he dies.

(Leni McShaw, British poet, born 1936)

There are so many kinds of awful men –
 One can't avoid them all. She often said
 She'd never make the same mistake again.
 She always made a new mistake instead.

(Wendy Cope, British poet, born 1945)

revise the basics: why things change

- 1 Look at the text, and write down all the words and expressions that are different in Tom's and Peter's sentences.

TOM (on Saturday evening): 'I don't like this party. I want to go home now.'

PETER (on Sunday morning): 'Tom said that he didn't like the party, and he wanted to go home right away.'

.....
.....

- 2 DO IT YOURSELF Which do you think is the best explanation for the differences?

Circle A, B or C.

A After verbs like said, you change tenses and pronouns in English.

B The time, place and speakers are different.

C If the main verb is past, the other verbs have to be past too.

- 3 Read the dialogue. Imagine that Theo talks to a friend the next day and tells him about the conversation, using indirect speech structures (I said/told her that ... ; so she asked if ...). Circle at least ten words in the conversation that would have to be changed or left out in Theo's report.

THEO: You're looking good today.

SUZY: Oh, thanks, Theo. You are sweet.

THEO: OK. If you sit down I'll get you a drink.

SUZY: There's nowhere to sit.

THEO: Yes, there is. Over there in the corner.

SUZY: I don't want to sit there. It's too dark. I'll sit here.

THEO: You can't. These seats are taken.

SUZY: No, they aren't.

THEO: Really, Suzy. Why do you always have to argue? They're taken.

SUZY: Excuse me. Are these seats taken?

JOE: Well, this one is, but the other one's free.

SUZY: OK. I'll sit here, then. Thanks.

JOE: You're welcome. What's your name?

THEO: Hey, what about me?

SUZY: Suzy. What's yours?

JOE: I'm Joe Parsons. Can I get you a drink?

SUZY: That's very kind. Can I have a bitter lemon?

THEO: I'm getting her a drink.

JOE: No, you're not, mate. I am.

THEO: I don't believe this. Suzy, what are you playing at?

SUZY: Really, Theo, I don't know what's wrong with you today. I'll see you around, OK?

revise the basics: 'here' and 'now' words

Some words may be changed in indirect speech because the original speaker's 'here' and 'now' are not the same as the reporter's.

- 1 DO IT YOURSELF The following sentence was said in England in November 2008:
 'I've been in this part of the world since March this year.'

When does the first or second this have to be changed?

IF THE SENTENCE IS REPORTED	FIRST THIS CHANGED?	SECOND THIS CHANGED?
1 in England a week later	yes / no	yes / no
2 in England a year later	yes / no	yes / no
3 in Holland a week later	yes / no	yes / no
4 in Holland a year later	yes / no	yes / no

- 2 Match the direct and indirect speech expressions.

DIRECT SPEECH: 'here and now' words
0 here	5 today	A that day	F the next day
1 now	6 tonight	B that night	G there o
2 this	7 last week	C that	H the week before
3 tomorrow	8 next week	D the day before	I then
4 yesterday		E the next week

There is often more than one way of reporting 'here' and 'now' words.

'I don't like this house.' → She said she didn't like that house / the house / their house / the house she was visiting ...

- 3 Imagine these sentences were reported in another place a month later.

Put in words and expressions from the box.

right away that day that evening that morning the the day after ✓ the day before the same night the week before there

- 'I'll see you tomorrow.' She said she'd see me the day after.....
- 1 'My brother's arriving here today.' She said her brother was arriving
- 2 'I'll phone you this evening.' He said he'd phone
- 3 'Do you like it here?' She asked if I liked it
- 4 'My uncle died last week.' He told me his uncle had died
- 5 'This meat tastes funny.' She said meat tasted funny.
- 6 'I'm leaving now.' He told us he was leaving
- 7 'I overslept this morning.' She told him she'd overslept
- 8 'The train leaves at 11.00 tonight.' I was told the train left at 11.00
- 9 'Pete phoned me yesterday.' He said Pete had phoned him

revise the basics: tenses

After reporting expressions like he said, I asked, she thought, tenses are usually different from those in the original words (because the reporter's time is different from the original speaker's time). Verbs become more past.

ORIGINAL WORDS (DIRECT SPEECH)

You look nice.
I can't swim.
I'm learning French.
Has he forgotten?
John phoned.
Will you marry me?

REPORTED WORDS (INDIRECT SPEECH)

I told her she looked nice.
(NOT I told her she looks nice.)
He pretended he couldn't swim.
She said she was learning French.
I wondered if he had forgotten.
She told me that John had phoned.
I asked him if he would marry me.

1 DO IT YOURSELF Complete the table.

2 Complete the reported sentences with the correct tenses.

- 'I'm tired.' She said she tired.
- 'You play very well.' He told me I very well.
- 'Can you help us?' They asked if I help them.
- 'We're leaving.' They told us they
- 'She hasn't brushed her hair.' I noticed that she her hair.
- 'John's had an accident.' Pam rang to say that John an accident.
- 'I left school at fifteen.' Her letter said that she school at fifteen.
- 'She won't say anything.' I knew she anything.
- 'Nobody will know.' I thought nobody
- 'This letter has been opened.' I could see that the letter

Note the difference between say and tell.

Tell must have a personal object: we tell somebody something.

They told me I was wrong. (NOT They told I was wrong.) Karen told us a joke.

Say doesn't need a personal object: we say something (to somebody).

They said I was wrong. (NOT They said me I was wrong.) We said nothing to anybody.

3 Circle the correct answer.

| 2 Lucy said / told that she would buy the tickets. | 6 Andy said / told the doctor he couldn't walk. |
| 3 I didn't say / tell anyone that I was leaving. | 7 Everybody said / told I looked happy. |
| 4 Why did you say / tell you were ill? | 8 Nobody said / told me that there was a strike. |

4 Put in the right tenses of the verbs in the boxes.

I've never met anybody like you before.

be fancy ✓ have never meet want

What do you do for a living?

I had a really funny evening yesterday, Mary. I got talking to this boy in the pub, very nice-looking he was, and I could see he ► fancied me. He said he ¹ anybody like me before, and he felt I ² a very unusual kind of beauty. Oh, yes? I said. Then he asked me if I ³ a lift home, so I said no, I ⁴ hungry, so we went out for a curry.

call can can do do move think want

I'm moving around all the time.

I asked him what he ⁵ for a living, and he said he ⁶ some undercover work for the CIA just now. He said he ⁷ not give me his address because he ⁸ around all the time. So I asked him why he ⁹ I ¹⁰ his address. Then he asked if he ¹¹ have my phone number. He said he ¹² me today to fix for me to go to America with him.

be be fall go have leave lie not matter think want

Why do you want to take me to America?

So I asked him why he ¹³ to take me to America, and he said he ¹⁴ he ¹⁵ in love with me. I knew he ¹⁶ , but it was kind of fun. Anyway, I told him I ¹⁷ got a boyfriend already, but he said that ¹⁸ We ¹⁹ meant for each other, he said, and nobody ²⁰ to stand in our way, because our lives ²¹ written in the stars. Then he borrowed £20 from me to pay the bill because he said he ²² his wallet at home, and he went off to the toilet, and I never saw him again.

Do you want a lift home?

I'm doing some undercover work for the CIA.

I'll call you tomorrow.

We're meant for each other, and nobody is going to stand in our way.

I think I'm falling in love with you.

Tenses don't change after present or future reporting verbs, because there is no important change of time.

He says he doesn't want to play any more. ('I don't want ...')

I'll tell her your idea is great.

Tenses do not usually change after present perfect reporting verbs, either.

The government has announced that taxes will be raised.

We often drop that after common reporting verbs.

He said (that) he was falling in love with me. I knew (that) he was lying.

present situations He proved that the earth is/was round.

Situations that have not changed: if the original speaker was talking about a present or future situation that is still present or future when the words are reported, the tenses are sometimes not changed after a past reporting verb.

DIRECT SPEECH

The earth is round.
 'How old are you?' 'What?'
 Where does she work?
 It will be windy tomorrow.

INDIRECT SPEECH

He proved that the earth was/is round.
I asked how old you were/are.
I've often wondered where she worked/works.
The forecast said it would/will be windy tomorrow.

- 1 Imagine these sentences were reported soon after they were said: change them to indirect speech in two different ways.

► I'm utterly fed up! (I said)

I said I was utterly fed up. I said I'm utterly fed up.

- 1 What day is it? (I asked)
- 2 What's the dark-haired child's name? (I asked)
- 3 It's raining. (I told you)
- 4 You'll get your money. (I said)
- 5 There will be a strike. (This article I was reading said)
- 6 The repairs will cost £5,000. (Al told me)
- 7 Is Jane coming to see us? (I asked)
- 8 You're going to the Glasgow office. (Pat told me that)
- 9 You won't pass your exam. (I bet George £5 yesterday that he)
- 10 They're getting married next week. (Sue rang this morning, and she said)

We do not keep the original speaker's tenses if we do not agree with what he/she said, or if we want to show that the ideas do not come from us.

They were certain that the gods lived in the sky.
Did you hear that? She said she was fourteen!
He announced that profits were higher than forecast.
I didn't know she was ill.

revise the basics: indirect questions

Indirect questions normally have the subject before the verb.

He wanted to know when I could start. (NOT USUALLY ... when could I start.)

I asked where the trainer and the team were staying.

Do is not used in indirect questions, and question marks (???) are not used.

I wondered how they felt. (NOT ... how did they feel?)

The same structure is used to report the answers to questions.

I knew how they felt.

Nobody told me why I had to sign the paper.

1 Turn these into indirect questions, beginning I asked.

- Where are my gloves? I asked where my gloves were.
- 1 What's Peter's address?
 - 2 When's the new manager coming?
 - 3 How does she know my name?
 - 4 Why are all the windows open?
 - 5 How many books does he want?
 - 6 Where do they keep the money?
 - 7 What time is the meeting?
 - 8 When does the last train leave?
 - 9 How does the photocopier work?
 - 10 How often does Ann go shopping?

Yes/no questions are reported with if or whether.

The driver asked if/whether I wanted to go to the town centre.

We prefer whether before or in a formal style.

I enquired whether she was coming by road or by air.

2 Turn these into indirect questions, beginning I wondered.

- Are the children all right? I wondered if the children were all right.
- 1 Do they like me?
 - 2 Will I be ready in time?
 - 3 Is there any food in the house?
 - 4 Is service included or not?
 - 5 Can I pay by cheque?
 - 6 Does my hair look funny?
 - 7 Has the postman been?
 - 8 Do they speak English?
 - 9 Am I doing the right thing?
 - 10 Is the meeting on Tuesday or Wednesday?

We sometimes make indirect questions in the same way as direct questions in informal speech (but not in formal writing).

He wanted to know when could I start.

revise the basics: infinitives He promised to write.

We use infinitives to report sentences about future actions – for example promises, agreements, orders, offers, advice, suggestions, requests.

'I'll definitely write.' → He promised to write.

'OK, I'll wait until 6 o'clock.' → She agreed to wait until 6 o'clock.

'Do be careful, Andrew.' → I told Andrew to be careful.

'Shall I babysit tonight?' → Ann has offered to babysit tonight.

'You'd better think again.' → The manager advised me to think again.

'Please don't be late.' → She asked us not to be late.

1 Change the sentences as shown.

► I won't tell anybody. (He promised) He promised not to tell anybody.

1 I'll cook supper. (She offered)

2 Leave early. (He advised me)

3 Please don't close the door. (She asked me)

4 I'll stop smoking. (She promised)

5 Why don't I do the shopping? (He offered)

6 You ought to tell the police. (She advised me)

7 Wait outside. (I told her)

8 OK, I'll pay half. (He agreed)

9 Don't park outside the house. (She told me)

10 We'll pay for the tickets. (We offered)

The structure question word + infinitive is common.

He asked her how to make a white sauce. Don't tell me what to do.

2 Complete the sentences with question words and the infinitives of the verbs in the box. (There is one verb too many.) Different answers may be possible.

break	come back	cook	give	park
play	start ✓	tell	wear

► We'll let you know when to start work.

1 I don't know mah-jong.

2 Can you show me the car?

3 We don't know Oliver for his birthday.

4 I'm not sure John.

5 Do you know spaghetti carbonara?

6 I can't decide to Peter's wedding.

7 I'm leaving on Thursday, but I still haven't decided

.....

'I told him to choose his weapons and be here at six.'

Infinitives are not used after suggest or say.

He suggested trying somewhere else. (NOT He suggested to try ...)

The policeman said I mustn't park there. (NOT ... said me not to park ...)

We can use whether but not if before infinitives.

I don't know whether to go home. (NOT ... if to go home.) indirect speech: special cases He said I'd better go.

Past tenses are changed to past perfect tenses after past reporting verbs, but only if this is necessary in order to make the time relations clear. Compare:

DIRECT SPEECH

I saw Penny a couple of days ago.

Dinosaurs were around for 250 million years.

INDIRECT SPEECH

In his letter, he said he'd seen Penny a couple of days before.

This guy on TV said that dinosaurs were around for 250 million years.

(NOT ... had been around ...)

1 Change these to indirect speech.

1 I saw him once before in London. (I knew)

2 Shakespeare didn't speak French. (The professor said)

3 He died two years ago. (When I got there, I found out)

4 Three thousand years ago there were tigers in England. (It said on this TV programme)

5 Somebody threw a bomb at the Prime Minister. (It said on this morning's news)

6 The ancient Romans suffered from lead poisoning. (I read in a magazine)

Usually unchanged after past reporting verbs: past perfect, had better, would, could, should, ought, might, must.

DIRECT SPEECH

I hadn't seen him before.

You'd better go.

INDIRECT SPEECH

She said she hadn't seen him before.

He said I'd better go.

2 Change these to indirect speech.

1 Would you like a drink? (She asked me)

.....

2 I couldn't help it. (I said)

.....

3 We should be home about six. (They thought)

.....

4 It might rain. (The forecast said)

.....

5 She must be joking. (Everybody said)

.....

6 I hadn't seen the notice. (I explained)

.....

'I thought you'd like to know that the day after you died you won a $22.5 million lottery.'

indirect speech: more practice

1 Tenses. Here are some things that people thought in the past. Report them, using indirect speech.

► 'I've found a new way to get to India.' (Columbus)

Columbus thought (that) he had found a new way to get to India.

1 'The sun goes round the earth.' (Ptolemy)

2 'Brutus loves me.' (Julius Caesar)

3 'That boy will never be a scientist.' (One of Einstein's teachers)

4 'I can conquer Russia.' (Napoleon and Hitler)

5 'People are born again and again.' (The ancient Egyptians)

6 'The world has existed since October 23, 4004 B.C.' (Bishop Ussher)

7 'Modern ships cannot sink.' (C J Smith, the future captain of the Titanic)

8 'The land belongs to everyone.' (Many native Americans)

9 'The Beatles are more popular than Jesus.' (John Lennon)

10 'Capitalism will disappear.' (Karl Marx)

2 Grammar in a text. Choose the right forms to complete the text.

I didn't feel at all well yesterday, so I looked in my book (The Complete Home Doctor, 2nd Edition) to see what I ¹ have / had / did. The book said it ² is / was / would be either mononucleosis or typhoid, but it wasn't clear which, so I went to the doctor. I wanted to see Dr Gibbons – he's always very understanding – but the receptionist said he ³ isn't / wasn't / wouldn't free, so I had to see Dr Parker, one of those new young doctors. I went in and told him what I ⁴ have / had / did. (I always tell the doctor what I ⁵ have / had / did got, it saves a lot of time.) But he just started asking a lot of stupid questions. He wanted to know how old ⁶ I am / I was / was I, if I ⁷ smoke / smoked / was smoking, how much ⁸ I drink / I drank / did I drink, if I ⁹ take / took exercise, if I ¹⁰ live / lived alone, if I ¹¹ have / had ever had mental problems, etc etc. So I told him that I ¹² am / was / would be perfectly all right, except that I either ¹³ have / had / was having mononucleosis or typhoid, and I ¹⁴ do want / want / wanted to know which. I explained that it ¹⁵ is / was / will be urgent, because typhoid ¹⁶ is / is being / would be very infectious. And he said I ¹⁷ have / had / am having a bad case of hypochondria, and I ¹⁸ should take / should have taken / should be taking two aspirins and come back in a week if I still felt ill. And he said ¹⁹ I better throw / I'd better throw / I'd better have thrown away the book. Throw away The Complete Home Doctor? It's been in my family for generations. I don't know what they do in medical school, but they don't learn ²⁰ how talk / how talking / how to talk to patients, and they certainly don't learn much about medicine. I'm surprised that I'm still alive.

3 GRAMMAR AND VOCABULARY: everyday jobs. What do you know how to do?

Write sentences beginning I (don't) know how to ... Use a dictionary if necessary.

- (boil an egg) I know how to boil an egg.
1 (mend a fuse)
2 (sew on a button)
3 (knit a sweater)
4 (clean a carpet)
5 (hang a picture on a wall)
6 (replace a tap washer)
7 (change a wheel on a car)

- Some prepositions are difficult because they have more than one meaning. (A preposition in one language often has several different translations into another language.) This is really a matter of vocabulary, not grammar, but grammar books often deal with the meanings of prepositions, and we include information about some problem points in this Section.
- We also list common fixed expressions consisting of verb + preposition, noun + preposition and adjective + preposition, and other common expressions that begin with prepositions. (To find out what preposition to use after other nouns, verbs and adjectives, see the Oxford Advanced Learner's Dictionary, the Oxford Collocations Dictionary, or any other good dictionary.)
- The grammar of prepositions is mostly covered in other Sections:
 For -ing forms after prepositions, see page 119.
 For the position of prepositions, see pages 107 (questions), 98 (passives) and 273 (relative clauses).

Note: for phrasal verbs (verb + adverb particle), see pages 150-151.

revise the basics: place and movement

1 DO IT YOURSELF Look at the examples and complete the rule correctly.

I met her at a concert. Let's go to a concert. He's in London. I sent it to London yesterday.

Rule: At and in are used for distance / position / movement.

To is used for distance / position / movement.

We often use at to talk about where something happens – for example, a meeting place or a point on a journey.

We usually meet at the pub. I had to change trains at York.

Turn right at the petrol station. They kept me waiting at the embassy.

And we often use at with words for things that people do, or the places where they do them.

at a match at breakfast, lunch etc at a restaurant at work at the office at the theatre at the cinema at the station at a party at (the) college/university

At and in are often both possible. We prefer in when we are thinking more about the place itself, and not just the activity. Compare:

We had dinner at the Golden Dragon. It was very hot in the big dining room.

At is not used with the names of very big places. Compare:

We changed planes at Kennedy. We changed planes in New York. (NOT ... at New York.)

She arrived at school late. (NOT ... arrived to ...) She arrived in London on Tuesday.

2 Put in in or at.

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|---|
| 1 I'll see you the party. | 6 Get off the bus Eden Square. |
| 2 We spent two days Bangkok. | 7 Joe's film crazy: he almost lives the cinema. |
| 3 There's no heating my room. | 8 You change trains Cardiff. |
| 4 We had problems the office. | 9 Let's meet my place at six. |
| 5 I'll pick you up the station. | 10 I never talk breakfast. |

We use in with 3-dimensional spaces like boxes, rooms, towns or countries.

We use on with 2-dimensional surfaces like floors, tables, walls or ceilings.

We say that people are in clothes, and that clothes and jewellery are on people.

3 Put in in or on.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 There's a spider the bath. | 6 Who's the man the funny hat? |
| 2 Put this paper the office door. | 7 There's a black mark the ceiling. |
| 3 What's that bird the roof? | 8 Our football is stuck up a tree. |
| 4 Your lunch is the table. | 9 Do you want your rice a bowl or a plate? |

In an informal style we often use till instead of until. Before a subject and verb, we can use by the time.

dropping sentence-beginnings Must dash.

In informal speech we often drop unstressed beginnings of sentences.

This happens mainly with articles, possessives, personal pronouns, auxiliary verbs and be, demonstratives and introductory there is.

Car's running badly. (= 'The car's ...') Shoelace is undone. (= 'My shoelace ...')

Forgotten his umbrella again. (= 'He's forgotten ...')

You talking to me? (= 'Are you talking ...?') She ready? (= 'Is she ready?')

Must dash. (= 'I must dash.') Won't work. (= 'It won't work.')

Be four pounds fifty. (= 'That'll be ...') No reason to panic. (= 'There's no reason ...')

1 Put back the words that have been dropped and write the complete sentences.

- 1 Wife's on holiday.
- 2 Couldn't understand a word.
- 3 Seen Joe?
- 4 Careful what you say.
- 5 Nobody at home.
- 6 Don't think so.
- 7 Train's late again.
- 8 Know what I mean?
- 9 Got a pen?
- 10 Lost my glasses.

2 Make these sentences more informal by dropping words from the beginning.

- 1 I've changed my job.
- 2 She doesn't know what she's doing.
- 3 That'll cost you £10.
- 4 Be careful of the flowers.
- 5 There's no time to waste.
- 6 The bus is coming.
- 7 Do you speak English?
- 8 I haven't been there.
- 9 He thinks he's clever.
- 10 Have you got a match?

We only drop pronouns before stressed words.

Like your tie. Haven't seen him. Can't swim.

BUT NOT Have seen him., Can swim. (Affirmative auxiliaries are usually unstressed.)

'You folks order the extra large?'

dropping words after auxiliaries 'Get up!' 'I am!'

In informal speech, we often use just an auxiliary verb instead of repeating a longer expression.

'Get up!' 'I am.' (= 'I am getting up.')

He said he'd write to me, but he hasn't. (= '... he hasn't written to me.')

'Talk louder.' 'I would if I could, but I can't.'

If there is no auxiliary to repeat, we use do.

She said she would phone, and she did.

1 Make these sentences more natural by cutting out unnecessary expressions after auxiliaries.

- I can't see you today, but I can see you tomorrow.
- 1 She thinks I don't love her, but I do love her.
- 2 I've bought one of those tops, and Sue has bought one too.
- 3 'You wouldn't have won if I hadn't helped you.' 'Yes, I would have won.'
- 4 'That car needs cleaning.' 'It certainly does need cleaning.'
- 5 'You'd better phone Bill.' 'I have phoned Bill.'
- 6 'The photocopier isn't working.' 'Yes, it is working.'
- 7 She can't swim, but I can swim.
- 8 Phil doesn't want to go, and Celia doesn't want to go either.

2 Read the text, and then write the expressions that have been dropped.

"I've never understood how John puts up with her."

"No, I haven't ► either. He's a saint. He –"

"She's so rude. She just doesn't care how much she upsets people."

"She certainly doesn't ¹. I remember –"

"And having to work with her every day, it was getting on my nerves."

"Yes, I know it was ². I thought you –"

"I mean, I couldn't go on like that."

"Of course you couldn't ³, dear. You –"

"And then, she kept promising to take Sally to the zoo, and she never did ⁴. Now if you make promises to children, you have to keep them, don't you ⁵?"

"Yes, of course you do ⁶. Children –"

"So in the end, I just told her what I thought of her."

"Well done. I'm glad you did ⁷. Somebody had to ⁸. If you hadn't ⁹, I would have ¹⁰. I –"

"And another thing, ..."

► understood how John puts up with her revise the basics: question tags It's cold, isn't it?

Question tags often follow sentences in speech and informal writing.

They are used to check whether something is true, or to ask for agreement.

You haven't seen Joe, have you? This tea isn't very nice, is it?

Negative tags are usually contracted – we say for example isn't it? (NOT USUALLY is it not?) (See page 321 for details of contractions). The contracted tag for am I not? is aren't I?

Nice day, isn't it? I'm late, aren't I?

Question tags are usually negative (⊖) after affirmative (⊕) sentences, and not negative after negative sentences. We do not normally put tags after questions.

It is cold, isn't it? It isn't warm, is it? (BUT NOT Is it cold, isn't it?)

1 Right (✓) or wrong (✗)?

- You're Scottish, aren't you? ✓
- Are you ready, are you? ✗
- 1 She can't speak Chinese, can she?
- 2 It's been raining, hasn't it?
- 3 Have they paid, have they?

- 4 The film wasn't much good, wasn't it?
- 5 It'll be dark soon, won't it?
- 6 You've made a mistake, haven't you?
- 7 I'm in time for breakfast, aren't I?
- 8 Was the weather OK, was it?

If the main sentence has an auxiliary verb or be, this is used in the tag. If not, do is used.

She can swim, can't she? You wouldn't like a puppy, would you?

He gave you a cheque, didn't he?

There can be used as a subject in tags.

There's a problem, isn't there?

2 These are sentences from real conversations. Put in the question tags.

- 1 I'm cooking tonight,
- 2 We're going to Mum's, then,
- 3 Your brothers are not being kind to you today,
- 4 I'm not quite myself,
- 5 They weren't ready,
- 6 She's not a baby now,
- 7 That's the law,
- 8 He's a lovely little boy,
- 9 That fireman can see them,, Dave?
- 10 It must be a year now,
- 11 It'll be all right,
- 12 They look like big candles,
- 13 They won't have bulbs,
- 14 There's a light out there,
- 15 Cathy's still got curly hair,
- 16 She doesn't look well,
- 17 They've been really horrible,
- 18 I was first really,

'Look, I'm sorry, mate – I'm only doing my  job, aren't I?'

Instead of question tags, people also say Right?, Yes? or No?

This is your coat, right? We're seeing Hazel tonight, no?

more about question tags Nobody phoned, did they?

We use they to refer to nobody/no one, somebody/someone, everybody/everyone and anybody/anyone.

Nobody phoned, did they? Someone's left the lights on, haven't they?

We use non-negative tags after words with a negative sense like never, no, nobody, hardly, scarcely, little.

She never smiles, does she? (NOT ... doesn't she?) It's hardly rained all summer, has it?

We use it in question tags to refer to nothing.

Nothing can happen, can it?

1 Put in suitable tags.

- | | |
|------------------------------------|--|
| 1 Everybody's here, aren't ? | 6 She hardly spoke, ? |
| 2 You're never happy, ? | 7 Somebody's forgotten their coat, ? |
| 3 There's no milk, ? | 8 There's scarcely enough time, ? |
| 4 Nothing matters, ? | 9 You never wrote, ? |
| 5 Nobody likes her, do ? | |

Informal questions/requests often use negative sentence + question tag.

You haven't seen Liz around, have you? You can't lend me £5, can you?

2 Change the structure.

- Do you know where Harry is? You don't know where Harry is, do you?
- 1 Have you picked up my keys?
- 2 Could you help me for a minute?
- 3 Is that your brother?
- 4 Can you give me a lift?

After imperatives, we can use won't you? to invite people to do things, and will/would/can/can't/could you? (informal) to tell or ask people to do things.

Do sit down, won't you? Give me a hand, will you? Shut up, can't you?

After a negative imperative we use will you? After Let's we use shall we?

Don't forget, will you? Let's have a party, shall we?

3 Complete the sentences with tags from the box.

could you? shall we? will you? won't you? would you?

- | | |
|--------------------------------|--|
| 1 Do have some more tea, | 4 You couldn't tell me the time, |
| 2 Don't drive too fast, | 5 Pass me the newspaper, |
| 3 Let's start again, | |

If a tag is a real question, it has a rising intonation: the music of the voice goes up.

If the tag only asks for agreement, it has a falling intonation: the voice goes down.

The meeting's at four o'clock, isn't it? Nice day, isn't it?

4 Real question or not? Draw arrows (or)

- | | |
|---------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 Sweet child, isn't she? | 3 This is boring, isn't it? |
| 2 That's Fred, isn't it? | 4 We finish at twelve, don't we? |

revise the basics: short answers and reply questions

In conversation, we often give short answers using pronoun + auxiliary verb.

'Can he swim?' 'Yes, he can.' 'Has the rain stopped?' 'No, it hasn't.'

'Don't forget to phone.' 'I won't.' 'She likes cakes.' 'She certainly does.'

1 Write short affirmative (+) or negative (-) answers for these sentences.

- 1 'Are you ready?' -
- 2 'Do you speak English?' +
- 3 'It's too hot.' +
- 4 'Don't be late.' -
- 5 'Send me a postcard.' +
- 6 'Have you seen Les?' +
- 7 'Can you understand him?' -
- 8 'He plays well.' +
- 9 'She sounded tired.' +
- 10 'Say hello to Linda for me.' +

Reply questions using auxiliary verb + pronoun (like question tags) can express attention, interest or surprise.

'It was a terrible party.' 'Was it?' 'Yes, ...'

'We had a lovely holiday.' 'Did you?' 'Yes, we went ...'

'I've got a headache.' 'Have you, dear? I'll get you an aspirin.'

'John likes that girl next door.' 'Oh, does he?'

'I don't understand.' 'Oh, don't you? I'm sorry.'

Negative reply questions answering affirmative sentences can express emphatic agreement.

'It was a lovely concert.' 'Yes, wasn't it? I did enjoy it.'

'She's lost a lot of weight.' 'Yes, hasn't she?'

2 Read the text and then rewrite a few lines of it as a conversation, using reply questions.

It was a lovely wedding. Though I didn't think much of Maggie's dress. That colour doesn't suit her at all. Anyway. I don't really go for church weddings. The service went on for ages. And I was sitting right at the back, so I couldn't hear the vicar. The music was nice, though. They played that hymn about sheep. Lovely. I must say I didn't enjoy the reception much. The food wasn't very good. And the bride's father made such a stupid speech. And I got one of my headaches. Champagne always gives me a headache. And I was sitting next to that Mrs Foster from down the road. I can't stand that woman. She's always criticising. Anyway, I must go. Nice to talk to you. It really was a lovely wedding.

'It was a lovely wedding.' 'Was it?' 'Yes. Though ...' revise the basics: so am I etc

So am I means 'I am too'; so does he means 'he does too'; and so on.

Neither/Nor am I means 'I'm not either', and so on.

'She's from Scotland, and so am I. I was tired, and so were the others.'

'I've lost their address.' 'So have I.' I like dancing, and so does he.

'I can't swim, and neither can Bill.' 'She didn't understand.' Nor did I.'

1 Complete the sentences with so am I etc or neither/nor am I etc.

- 1 He's tall, and his sister.
- 2 'I haven't paid.' ' I.'
- 3 Penguins can't fly, and ostriches.
- 4 'I love this music.' ' I.'
- 5 'I lost my passport.' ' Nicola.'
- 6 I don't like her, and my friends.
- 7 The food was bad, and the wine.
- 8 Sue won't be there, and her mother.
- 9 'Pete looks ill.' ' you.'
- 10 'I wasn't surprised.' ' I.'

2 Look at the pictures, and make sentences about pairs of things using so is etc or neither/nor is etc.

The cat has got four legs, and so has the dog. The pram is not alive, and neither is the car.

We can use short sentences (subject + auxiliary verb) to say that A is not the same as B.

'I'm not ready.' 'I am.' Ann doesn't like the new neighbours, but I do.

I want to go home.' 'I don't.' The room was OK, but the food wasn't.

3 Complete the sentences using expressions from the box, to say that things are not the same.

gas cookers her second little Lucy mine Robert the other one ✓
the sofa the windows

- 'This driver speaks English.' 'The other one doesn't.'
- 1 'My room doesn't cost a lot.' '.....'
- 2 Most of the children can sing, but
- 3 Her first marriage didn't work out very well, but
- 4 'Electric cookers take a long time to heat up.' '.....'
- 5 'Mike has found a job.' 'Yes, but
- 6 The door was locked, but
- 7 'The armchair isn't very comfortable.' '.....'

4 Here are some facts about some people. Are you the same as them, or different?

Write your answers, using So am I, Neither/Nor do I, I have, I can't etc.

- A lot of people have got brown eyes. So have I... or I haven't...
- Some people don't like fish. I do... or Nor do I.

- 1 Most people are interested in sport.
- 2 Quite a lot of people have climbed a mountain.
- 3 A lot of people can sing.
- 4 Some people like old books.
- 5 A lot of people speak Chinese.
- 6 Some people aren't very sociable.
- 7 Most people haven't got a dog.
- 8 Some people can't drink milk.
- 9 Some people don't like travelling.
- 10 A lot of people don't understand computers.

We can also use too or not either to say that A is/does the same as B.

'I'm hungry.' 'I am too.' Lucy hasn't written, and Carol hasn't either.

In informal conversation we often say Me too instead of So do I, I do too etc.

'I've got a headache.' 'Me too.' (NOT 'also.')

5 Write a few sentences comparing yourself with somebody you know.

Use the structures that you have just practised.

structures with so and not I (don't) think so. I hope so/not

We often use so in answers, instead of a that-clause. This is common after be afraid, hope, suppose, think.

'Did you lose?' 'I'm afraid so.' (= I'm afraid that we did.)

'Do you think we'll have good weather?' 'Yes, I hope so.' (NOT 'Yes, I hope.')

'Are you ready?' 'I suppose so.' (unwilling agreement)

'Is Alex here?' 'I think so.' (NOT 'think it.' OR 'think.')

- 1 Here are some exchanges taken from recorded conversations. See if you can guess which of the following expressions was used in each exchange: I'm afraid so, I hope so, I suppose so or I think so.

- 1 'Is it working?' 'Yes,'
- 2 'Dead, aren't they?' '.....'
- 3 'Do we want it?' 'Not sure.'
- 4 'Is that when she said it?' '.....'
- 5 'It should be warmer in April.' '.....'
- 6 'Did he know who you were?' 'Oh, yes,'
- 7 'When is it? Tomorrow?' 'Yes,'
- 8 'You're mean, aren't you?' '.....'
- 9 'It should be quite easy, though.' '.....'
- 10 'I could borrow one of your dresses, couldn't I?' '.....'
- 11 'Complete disaster, isn't it?' '.....'
- 12 'This really is the last job for today, right?' 'Well,'

Negatives are: I'm afraid not, I hope not, I suppose not and (usually) I don't think so.

'Have we finished?' 'I'm afraid not.' 'Is this our hotel?' 'I hope not.'

'John won't want to come with us.' 'I suppose not.'

'Is there a later train?' 'I don't think so.'

- 2 Complete the negative answers.

- 1 'Did you find out?' '.....' (afraid)
- 2 'Will you be home late?' 'No,' (think)
- 3 'We're not going to have lunch too early, are we?' '.....' (hope)
- 4 'It's not a good idea, is it?' 'No.' (suppose)

- 9 'Can you come round tonight?' '.....' (afraid)
- 10 'This isn't going to work, is it?' '.....' (suppose)
- 11 'Is it going to rain again?' '.....' (hope)
- 12 'Does Alice know what's going on?' '.....' (think)

appendix 3 capital letters (A, B, C etc)

We use CAPITAL LETTERS to begin the names of people, places, organisations, nationalities, languages, days, months and holidays.

Charles Dickens Shanghai Universal Export French Arabic Friday May Easter

Titles like Mr, Mrs, Miss, Doctor/Dr, Professor/Prof, General begin with capital letters.

We also use capital letters to begin the most important words in the titles of books, films etc.

A Tale of Two Cities Gone with the Wind

And we use a capital letter for the first word in a sentence, and for the pronoun I.

When I was younger I wanted to be a musician.

appendix 4 punctuation

This section summarises the most important rules of punctuation.

the basic sentence

We don't separate the basic parts of a sentence (subject and verb, verb and object, etc).

The Export Department should not have lost so much money.

(NOT The Export Department, should not have lost so much money.)

OR The Export Department should not have lost, so much money.)

before the basic sentence

If we put long adverbial expressions (saying when, where etc) before the basic sentence, we often use a comma (,). Compare:

Last year the Export Department should not have lost so much money.

Between January 2010 and March 2011, the Export Department should not have lost so much money.

after the basic sentence

We don't usually use commas when adverbial expressions come after the basic sentence.

The Export Department should not have lost so much money between January 2010 and March 2011.

inside the basic sentence

When adverbial expressions come between or inside parts of the basic sentence, we usually put commas before and after them.

The Export Department, between January 2010 and March 2011, lost an absolute fortune.

noun phrases

We don't usually separate a noun from the adjectives or other expressions that go with it.

the very strange men (NOT the very strange, men)

the very strange men in the London office (NOT the very strange men, in the London office)

the very strange men in the London office who run the Export Department

(NOT the very strange men in the London office, who run the Export Department)

However, we do use commas to separate non-identifying expressions (see page 275) after nouns.

Mr Sackbottle and Mr Pertwee, who run the Export Department, ...

sentences with conjunctions

We often put commas in sentences with conjunctions, especially in longer sentences. (See page 240.) Compare:

Things will be different when the head of the Export Department retires.

Things will be very different after next December, when the head of the Export Department retires.

We usually use a comma if we start with the conjunction.

When the head of the Export Department retires, things will be different.

indirect speech

We don't put commas after verbs of saying, thinking etc in indirect speech.

Annie says that the Export Department is in deep trouble. (NOT Annie says, that ...)

I don't know how much they're going to lose this year. (NOT I don't know, how much ...)

We don't put question marks (?) in indirect questions.

I asked why the police were here. (NOT I asked why the police were here?)

a useful rule: no comma before that

We don't put commas before that (conjunction or relative pronoun).

I know that the police have questioned the men that run the Export Department.

between separate sentences

Between separate sentences (with no conjunction), we use a full stop (.) or a semi-colon (;), but not a comma.

Compare:

The police have been here, and they have arrested the head of the Export Department. (comma and conjunction)

The police have been here. They have arrested the head of the Export Department.

OR The police have been here; they have arrested the head of the Export Department.

BUT NOT The police have been here, they have arrested the head of the Export Department.

We use commas to separate the different things in a list (but not before and).

The police are questioning his wife, his sister, his girlfriend, his secretary and his secretary's boyfriend.

abbreviations (short forms of words)

We use full stops after some abbreviations, like e.g. (meaning 'for example'). Mr and Mrs have full stops in American English, but not usually in British English.

The police have also arrested some of his other associates, e.g. the head of the Marketing Department, Mrs Oliver.

quotation marks ('...' or "..."')

Quotation marks are used to show direct speech (somebody's actual words).

Mrs Oliver says, 'I can explain everything.' (NOT <I can explain everything> OR – I can explain everything.)

figures

We use commas after thousands and millions, and full stops in decimal fractions.

losses of € 5,500,000 (= 'five million, five hundred thousand euros') losses of € 5.5m (= 'five and a half million euros')

apostrophes (')

For apostrophes in contractions (e.g. isn't), see Appendix 5. For apostrophes in possessives (e.g. John's), see page 207.

appendix 5 contractions

Contractions like she's, isn't represent the pronunciation of informal speech.

They are common and correct in informal writing, but are unusual in formal writing.

AFFIRMATIVE (+) CONTRACTIONS: PRONOUN + 'M, 'RE, 'S, 'VE, 'D, 'LL	NEGATIVE (-) CONTRACTIONS: AUXILIARY VERB / BE + N'T
I am → I'm we are → we're she is → she's he has → he's I have → I've you had → you'd you would → you'd they will → they'll	are not → aren't is not → isn't have not → haven't has not → hasn't had not → hadn't do not → don't does not → doesn't did not → didn't will not → won't	shall not → shan't would not → wouldn't should not → shouldn't cannot → can't could not → couldn't might not → mightn't must not → mustn't need not → needn't ought not → oughtn't

With be, two negative forms are common: you're not / you aren't, she's not / she isn't etc.

With other verbs, forms with n't are more common.

Am not is contracted to aren't only in questions.

I'm late, aren't I? (BUT I'm not late, NOT I aren't late.)

The contraction 's (= is or has) can be written after pronouns, nouns, question words, there and here.

It's late. Your father's gone home. How's everything?

There's the phone. Here's your money.

The contractions 're, 've, 'd and 'll are normally only written after pronouns.

Don't confuse it's (= it is/has) with its (possessive – see page 190).

The cat isn't hungry. It's only eaten half of its food.

Don't confuse who's (= who is/has) with whose (possessive – see page 190).

Who's the woman in the green coat? Whose car is that?

In very informal speech, going to, want to and got to are often pronounced like gonna, wanna and gotta.

They are sometimes written like this, especially in American English.

1 Change the words in italics to contractions.

► I am ... I'm tired.

1 My car has broken down.

2 She is French.

3 She has forgotten.

4 They have finished.

5 I thought you had left.

6 We will tell you tomorrow.

7 I wish he would stop.

8 How is your mother?

9 Nobody is perfect.

10 Do you not like this?

11 You need not worry.

12 I cannot swim.

13 The door will not close.

14 It does not matter.

15 I have not forgotten.

16 I am not sorry.

17 Why are you not in bed?

18 I'm right, am I not

Affirmative contractions are not usually stressed. When an affirmative auxiliary verb is stressed (for example at the end of a sentence) we don't use a contraction. Compare:

'You're late.' 'Yes, we are.' (NOT 'Yes, we're.') 'He's forgotten.' 'I think he has.' (NOT 'I think he's.)

Negative contractions can be stressed, and are possible in any position.

'It isn't true.' 'No, it isn't.'

2 Rewrite the words in italics only if contractions are possible.

- Can you tell me where she is staying? she's
 - 'Remember to take your medicine.' 'Yes, I will.'
- 1 Do you know where she is?
 - 2 'Have you paid?' 'No, I have not.'
 - 3 'It is not true.'
 - 4 'On the contrary, it is true.'
 - 5 'Would you like another cup?' 'Yes, I would.'
 - 6 I do not believe they are fresh.
 - 7 Telephone if you cannot come.
 - 8 'Can you help me?' 'No, I cannot just at the moment.'

3 Complete the poem with the contracted forms of the expressions in the box.

cannot	he has	he would	I will	that is	there is	we have	you have
--------	--------	----------	--------	---------	----------	---------	----------

Mother, 1 a strange man

With a familiar sort of face

Says 3 been made redundant

And now 4 find a job.

Egyptian or a Jew

Oh aye, and that reminds me

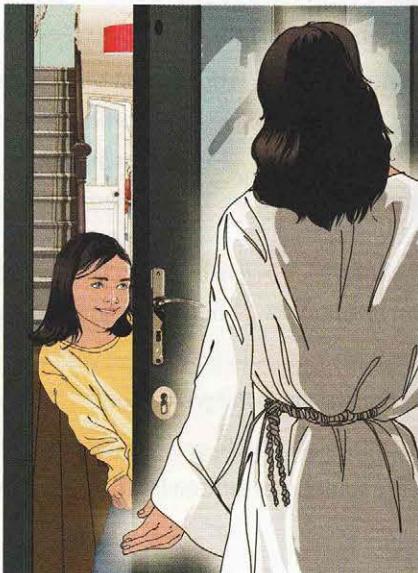

5 like some water too.

Well shall I give him what he wants

Or send him on his way?

Say 7 all 8 got today.

(From Roger McGough: Three Rusty Nails)

*a couple of bob (shillings): a little money

appendix 6 word order

This section summarises the most important rules of word order that you can find in other parts of the book.

sentences

The basic word order of English sentences is SUBJECT – VERB – OBJECT.

I like jazz. (NOT I jazz like.)

questions

In questions we usually put an auxiliary verb before the subject.

Did you see my email? (NOT Saw you my email ...?) Must you go?

For more details, see pages 103–107.

This does not usually happen with indirect questions.

I asked her what she wanted. (NOT I asked her what did she want.)

For more details, see page 287.

adjectives

Adjectives usually go before, not after, nouns.

an interesting book (NOT a book interesting)

Adjectives can go after be, seem and similar verbs.

I think he is unhappy.

For more details, see pages 215–219.

adverbs

Different adverbs can go in different places in a sentence.

Yesterday I stopped work early. I've just seen Peter. She's talking very strangely.

They do not usually go between the verb and the object.

I bought some shoes yesterday. (NOT I bought yesterday some shoes.)

You speak English very well. (NOT You speak very well English.)

For more details, see pages 220–222.

prepositions

Prepositions often go at the ends of questions, especially in spoken English.

Who do you work for? Where did you get that from?

For more details, see page 107.

Prepositions can also go at the ends of passive clauses and (especially in spoken English) at the ends of relative clauses.

That child needs to be spoken to.

The team that I play for has won its last six matches.

For more details, see pages 98 and 273.

exclamations

In exclamations, the adjective, adverb or object comes at the beginning of the sentence, just after how or what.

How cold it is! (NOT How it is cold!) What a stupid mistake I made!

For more details, see page 145.

phrasal verbs

The objects of phrasal verbs (but not prepositional verbs) can often go between the two parts of the verb.

Shall I switch the TV off? (OR Shall I switch off the TV?)

Pronoun objects always go between the two parts of a phrasal verb.

I switched it off. (NOT I switched off it.)

For more details, see pages 150–151.

Ago follows an expression of time.

She went to bed two hours ago. (NOT ... ago two hours) enough

Enough usually goes before nouns but after adjectives and adverbs.

We haven't got enough milk. (NOT ... milk enough)

Is your coffee hot enough? (NOT ... enough hot?) I didn't study hard enough.

so do I / etc

Note the word order in so do I, so am I etc (see page 312).

My sister sings in a choir, and so do I. (NOT ... so I do.)

appendix 7 numbers

A hundred, a thousand etc are less formal than one hundred etc. Compare:

I'll let you have it for a hundred pounds.

We are prepared to sell the item for a sum of one hundred pounds.

We use one hundred etc when we wish to sound precise.

It costs exactly one hundred dollars.

We use one hundred etc, not a hundred etc, just before another number or inside a larger number.

1,300: one thousand, three hundred (NOT a thousand, three hundred)

£1.70: one pound seventy six thousand, one hundred and eleven (NOT six thousand, a hundred ...)

1 Write the figures in words.

- 1 We drove about 100 miles.
- 2 He wants £1,450 for the car.
- 3 'What's the population of your village?' 'Oh, 1,000, I suppose.'
- 4 3,144
- 5 $1.85
- 6 (on a cheque): Pay G S Hallam £1,000 only

Dozen, hundred, thousand and million have no -s after a number, few or several.

three dozen bottles (NOT three dozens (of) bottles)

a few hundred times six thousand miles several million pounds

In other cases we use dozens (of), hundreds (of) etc.

We've got dozens of bottles. He's done it hundreds of times. She made millions in the property market.

2 Put in dozen(s) (of), hundred(s) (of), thousand(s) (of) or million(s) (of).

- 1 He had to sign his name five times. (hundred)
- 2 We export 40 tons a year. (million)
- 3 I just need to borrow a few pounds. (hundred)
- 4 I've told you times. (million)
- 5 refugees are flooding into the country. (thousand)
- 6 Could I have two eggs? (dozen)

3 Do you know how to spell ordinal numbers? Write these in words.

- | | | | | | |
|-------|--------------|--------|-------|------|-------|
| 1st | first | 2nd | | 3rd | |
| 4th | | 5th | | 6th | |
| 7th | | 8th | | 9th | |
| 10th | | 12th | | 16th | |
| 20th | | 21st | | 30th | |
| 100th | | 1000th | | | |

We use ordinal numbers to say the names of kings, queens and popes.

Henry VIII → Henry the Eighth

Elizabeth II → Elizabeth the Second

Pius the Twelfth

'I'm afraid you've got the wrong number. This is Louis XV.'

WRITING DATES: 30 March 2008; 10 June 1980

3 the sixteenth of June, nineteen seventy-nine

4 16 May 1970

5 12 March 2003

6 14 January 1996

Telephone and credit card numbers and similar numbers are usually said one number at a time.

3174522: three one seven four five two two two (OR ... double two)

20645: two oh (OR zero) six four five

5 Write the following all in words:

1 your telephone number

2 your date of birth

3 the approximate population of your home village/town and your country

appendix 8 word problems

This section tells you about some words that are difficult to use correctly. We explain some other word problems in other sections of the book: see the Index.

A man came to my office a few days ago. When I saw him, I knew that we had met years before.

He spends half (of) the night playing computer games.

hear and listen to We can hear something without trying. When we listen to something, we want to hear it.

I heard a strange noise upstairs. You're not listening to me. (NOT ... listening me.)

We often use can with hear.

I could hear the children playing in the garden.

home We leave out to before home.

Are you going home now? (BUT There's nobody at home.)

hope We often use so and not after hope.

'Are you free on Saturday?' 'I hope so.' 'Is there a meeting tomorrow?' 'I hope not.'

if and when We use if for things that may happen, and when for things that will happen.

If I make a lot of money ... If John phones ... When I die ... When it stops raining ...

It was quite a good film.

We watch things that move, change or happen.

I hardly ever watch TV. Did you watch the match last night?

whom In a very formal style, we use whom as an object in questions and relative clauses.

Whom did they arrest? For whom did she work? The man whom they elected did a very bad job.

In an informal style, who is more normal in questions, and that (OR nothing) in relatives.

Who did they arrest? Who did she work for? The man they elected did a very bad job.

Oxford English Grammar Course

Learn and practise the grammar you need to speak and write in English.

- Short grammar explanations are easy to remember. Colour makes the grammar clear.
- Clear simple examples show how the grammar works.

1 When we first give news, we often use the present perfect.

A plane has crashed in Yorkshire.
The Prime Minister has met business leaders.

2 When we give or ask for more past details, we change to the simple past.

It came down in a field outside York.
They talked for four hours.

- Texts, articles, quotations and poems use the grammar.

Where did we come from?

Every now and then you decide it's time to tidy up to replace them. You sort out the papers on your desk, arrange some of them in systematic-looking piles, and throw away the others. Finally you put on some relaxing music, pour yourself a drink, and sit back with a feeling of satisfaction. A good job done. Only one small problem, which you slowly discover over the next few days: you just can't find anything. ☺

- Internet exercises and grammar-and-vocabulary work
- Tests in the book and online
